Half-Trillion In Military Spending Seen

15 Years Of Peaceful Preparedness Brings High Expenditures

WASHINGTON (AP)—Spending for military defense over the 15-year period extending to 1965 may total more than half a trillion dollars—even with the nation at peace.

This is more, by many billions, than was spent in the previous decade and a half—which included fighting World War II.

From fiscal year 1951 through 1965, if the current spending rate continues, the cost of rearming for the jet-atomic age will be about $528½ billion. This period also includes the years of the Korean War.

That estimate will be spending by the Defense Department. The figure does not include the cost of nuclear weapons. The Atomic Energy Commission has not disclosed what part of the approximate $14 billion spent for this over-all program to date involves weapons, but it is known the great bulk of that total has been for weapon development and production.

HIGH DEFENSE officials have stated that a critical need for military readiness probably will mean that the current annual rate of military spending (about $35 billion) will be required well into the future, unless there is a change in world conditions resulting in either disarmament of another war.

Moreover, Secretary of Defense Wilson has said that continued improvements in technology and weapons "will tend to increase costs unless offsetting savings can be found."

Defense Department spending in the last six years through June 30, 1956, is estimated at $213½ billion. That does not include such items as foreign military aid nor public works projects such as rivers and harbor development.

An annual spending rate of $35 billion from 1956 through 1965 would add another $515 billion to the total to boost it above the half trillion mark.

For the 15-year period beginning with 1936, records show a total expenditure of $344,249,000,000. This figure does not include the lend-lease program of the war years, but does include public works projects under the big economic recovery program of the later 1930s.

The bigger cost now arises out of two primary factors:

1. The price tag on weapons is higher. The cost of material and labor for weapons production has gone up, like everything else.
2. The weapons with which World War II was fought were relatively simple by today's standards.

Swimmer, 50, Tries Proving He's No Sissy

CHICAGO (AP)—Raymond Hurd took a swim in Lake Michigan yesterday to prove to a group of teenagers he wasn't a sissy. In return, he got a raw deal from the kids.

Hurd, who went to a North Side beach to loaf in the sun—not to swim—noticed the youths were in swim trunks and shouted, "Go on in the water, you sissies."

"Go in yourself, a couple of the youths told Hurd. 'We dare you.' 'I'd go in if I had a swim suit,' Hurd told the kids.

"Yaah," they jeered. "You're a sissy yourself."

Hurd, who is 50, stripped off his clothes and waded into the lake, swimming around in the cold water. When he decided he had enough he headed for shore. He was in waist deep water when he discovered his clothes were gone. So were the teen-agers.

Hurd yelled for help. He resumed swimming, trying to keep warm. Some beach strollers called police.

Officers backed a squad car to the edge of the water, surrounded Hurd, escorted him to the car and thence to headquarters.

Hurd, who said he is an unemployed chemist, was charged with disorderly conduct.

OSU Chief Says U.S. Future Rests Upon Its Universities

COLUMBUS (AP)—President Howard L. Bevis of Ohio State University told 2,077 graduating students today that the future of America rests upon its colleges and universities.

The university administrator, winding up nearly 16 years of handing out diplomas, addressed the university's 79th June commencement in Ohio Stadium.

Dr. Bevis, scheduled to retire June 30, stressed the vital responsibility of higher education. He told graduates of their importance to this country today.

"For the first time in history, our country finds itself unmatched in power, save by its rival in the opposing ideological camp," the educator said.

Dr. Bevis said the country looks to its universities in this time of stress. He declared:

"Their graduates are its salvation. You are vital to the United States of America—you and your fellow graduates throughout the land."

Dr. Bevis, referring to OSU's share of this responsibility, said: "We are not free, in my judgment, to mark out for ourselves a convenient portion of the needed service and to say: This is our chosen task; we shall attempt no more. We are bound rather, as I see it, to extend our efforts to the limit of the resources given us."

"America can no longer afford to train a mere fraction of those who can, and want to, be educated."

Of the graduates, 60 received doctoral degrees and 174 master's degrees. Thirty students received degrees "summa cum laude" and 108 others "cum laude."

Three other state universities will graduate a total of 1,782 students Saturday and Sunday. Kent State University's 43rd annual graduation is set for Saturday, while Ohio University and Bowling Green State University scheduled exercises for Sunday.

Unions Shun Full Waiver To Churchmen

WASHINGTON (AP)—The AFL-CIO has refused to extend any blanket waiver from union membership to members of religious sects with scruples against belonging to labor unions.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, said however that any AFL-CIO union could waive membership and dues payment for such people if they saw fit.

A bearded group of the old German Baptist Brethren, a small sect centered in Ohio and Pennsylvania, visited Meany here a few weeks ago to ask exemption of their members from a union shop requirement that they join a union in order to keep their jobs.

They said they had fled here from Germany years ago to preserve their religious freedom but now were faced with joining unions against their beliefs. They offered instead to contribute to charity an amount of money equal to union dues.

Meany said many unions have made exceptions for such people. But he said no blanket order to waive union membership could be made because a large non-union group in some plant might prevent a union from exercising its bargaining or other functions.

Second Major Foreign Aid Battle Looms

House Ignores Pleas By Ike To Give Him Full $4.9 Billion Fund

WASHINGTON (AP)—A second major foreign aid battle shaped up in the House today over whether to continue America's military and economic help to Communist Yugoslavia.

With administration support, House Democratic and Republican leaders tried to ward off stiff congressional demands to end aid to the country whose President Tito is now visiting and soliciting closer ties with Russia.

Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) and House GOP Leader Martin of Massachusetts, beaten in their effort to restore funds President Eisenhower had asked for military aid, were not optimistic about the Yugoslav issue.

But supporters of an amendment by Rep. Edna F. Kelly (D-N.Y.) to cut off aid to Yugoslavia were cautious about predicting victory.

Eisenhower asked $30 million in economic aid to Yugoslavia, plus a larger but secret amount of military assistance. The House Foreign Affairs Committee voted only $15 million.

CHAIRMAN Richards (D-S.C.) scored a dramatic victory yesterday when the House backed up the committee-approved cut of $1.1 billion in Eisenhower's $4.9 billion request.

Eisenhower, through a "Dear Joe" letter to Martin, joined personally in strenuous efforts by Martin and Rayburn to restore $600 million of the committee cut.

Martin read to a hushed House Eisenhower's letter saying "America's security and our partnership with like-minded nations in the world will be seriously impaired" by the committee slash. Rayburn said "it is necessary for the security of the country" to vote more money.

But in a rare repudiation of the joint leadership efforts, the House by a 192-112 standing vote turned down the $600 million restoration amendment offered by Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark.). A majority of Republicans voted against Eisenhower's request.

Many legislators applauded Richards when, with unusual bitterness, he said all Rayburn and Martin know about the bill "is what they are told about it down at the White House."

Richards also won two other test votes. The House shunted down a move by Rep. Flood (D-Pa.) to restore the full billion dollars of military aid cut from the bill. It defeated by 178-69 a motion by Rep. Bentley (R-Mich.) which had much Republican support, to slash half a billion dollars deeper than the committee did.

Paralyzed Graduate Gains Honors, Job

DETROIT (AP)—Left paralyzed in both arms by polio 12 years ago, Norman Zemke overcame his handicap to graduate with honors yesterday from the University of Detroit college of law.

The 24-year-old Detroit resident developed a plastic stick with a rubber grip which he holds between his teeth to turn pages and operate an electric typewriter. He was editor of his school's quarterly law journal this year.

Just before his graduation it was announced he had been appointed research clerk to newly appointed Michigan Supreme Court Justice George Edwards.

Oklahoma Wondering Why So Many Turtles On Roads

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—For those who have pondered the enigma "Why does a chicken cross the road?", give up!

There is a new puzzle: "Why does a turtle cross the road?" This is the time of year when the fig leaves are ripe, and in Oklahoma the voice of the turtle may not be heard but the turtle is certainly seen.

Thousands of the dry-land terrapins are taking over the highways. It's the motorists in the soup, not the turtles.

The highway patrol says the turtles are a great hazard as motorists try to miss them by swerving suddenly.

Many Oklahomans take special note of the faster terrapins and are ready to jump out of their cars to snatch them as prizes. Terrapin racing is a growing sport in the state.

There are several explanations for the greater number of terrapins on Oklahoma highways, including the profound observation more turtles are crossing roads now because there are more roads to cross.

Julian Frazier, director of the Lincoln Park Zoo here, said he has received hundreds of calls from harried turtle lovers (and haters) wondering about the terrapin migration.

"This seems to be one of the biggest years," he reports. "And there is a scientific reason why the turtles are on the move."

"It has been dry an awfully long time in Oklahoma, which is what the reptiles like. Now that the rains have come, they're moving to higher ground."

Frazier laughingly adds another reason: "It's spring and a boy terrapin crosses the road because there is a girl terrapin on the other side."

Russia Pledges New Cutbacks

Bulganin Sends Ike Another Military Note

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin has told President Eisenhower Russia intends not only to reduce its armed forces by 1,200,000 men but also to cut back armaments and military expenditures correspondingly.

In a letter delivered yesterday and undergoing intensive study by the President's advisers today, Bulganin urged the United States to follow Russia's lead by reducing its own forces, arms and military expenditures.

Secretary of State Dulles, speaking for the administration, already has rejected such a course on the ground that it would not be in the United States' interest.

The Soviets announced a month ago that they intended to cut their armed forces by 1,200,000 men. Bulganin officially informed the President of this in the letter, according to reliable accounts of the document.

Bulganin, the reports said, argued that it was a sincerely intended reduction in the level of Soviet forces. He said this kind of cut could be made without having to get international agreement on elaborate inspection and control systems such as a general disarmament program would require.

URGING THAT the United States and other countries follow suit, Bulganin said individual cuts in national armed forces would generate confidence in peace.

What he seemed to be advocating was a kind of parallel, unilateral disarmament. This is precisely the kind of thing against which the United States government has heretofore warned the American people and their allies.

In previous exchanges, Bulganin had made clear the Soviet Union would not accept Eisenhower's "open skies" proposal for mutual aerial inspection except perhaps as part of a fully developed arms control plan. On his part he had proposed, and Eisenhower had rejected as not needed, the signing of a friendship treaty between Russia and the U. S.

Knowland Disclaims Boom Knowledge

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) disclaimed knowledge today of a move to boom him for the Republican presidential nomination if President Eisenhower should change his mind about running.

Knowland said he knows nothing of the origin or sponsorship of circulars being distributed anonymously by a group which calls itself the "Knowland for President . . . Committee."

"I withdrew from the presidential race completely when Mr. Eisenhower announced for re-election," said Knowland, the Senate GOP leader. "I am an Eisenhower delegate and he has my complete support."

Enraged Thug Kills 3 In Chicago Spree

CHICAGO (AP)—A fast-shooting gunman invaded a North Side tavern early today, fatally shot one of the owners and a dice girl and then wantonly killed a 32-year-old newspaper vendor in the street.

Police said they had learned the identity of the gunman from a brother of one of the victims. They described him as an enraged convict who had been arrested for creating a disturbance in the tavern a month ago.

The assassin first fired three shotgun blasts at Max Epstein, 45, who was in back of the bar of Mickey and Maxie's Cabaret.

Police said that about half a dozen customers were in the tavern when the gunman entered and started blasting at Epstein. They ran for cover and Epstein's brother Mickey, 37, rushed to a rear room to get a gun.

The gunman, after shooting Epstein, ran half the length of the bar and fired at the girl, identified as Lois Gates, 28.

The gunman threatened some of the customers as he fled from the tavern. Running into the street, police said, he bumped into the news vendor.

He fired one shot at the man, who was not immediately identified. He died shortly after he was taken to Edgewater Hospital.

Mickey Epstein told police that the slayer was Lawrence N. Larry Neumann, 28, whom he had arrested last May 9 after they had a fight in the tavern.

White House Says No Heart Disorder Seen

Physicians Diagnose Illness As Inflammation Of Lower Intestine

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has been stricken with abdominal pains early today, and in the afternoon was taken by ambulance from the White House to the Army's Walter Reed Hospital.

The White House said physicians had diagnosed the trouble as an ileitis, or inflammation of the lower portion of the small intestine, and that "there is no indication of any heart trouble."

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said a cardiogram (a tracing of the heart action) would be taken at Walter Reed.

He described the hospitalization as a "precautionary measure."

Asked whether the President's condition could be called critical, Hagerty replied: "I have not used any adjectives."

In response to questions, Hagerty told newsmen that physicians had not made any suggestion to him that Eisenhower's illness was a result of food poisoning.

THE ARMY ambulance was pulled up to the south side of the White House to receive the ailing chief executive. It departed, accompanied by four and a half motorcycle escort.

Eisenhower could be seen lying in the ambulance. His hands were folded on his chest.

Some time before the ambulance wheeled away, Mrs. Eisenhower left in a White House limousine—presumably going ahead to the hospital.

As her car reached the White House gate, an Army car pulled up and her son, Maj. John Eisenhower, leaped out.

"Mother," he said, and climbed into the White House car with her.

Major Eisenhower is stationed at nearby Ft. Belvoir, Va. Also in the car were Lt. Col. Walter R. Tkach, assistant White House physician, and Col. Robert Schulz, presidential military aide.

The President was stricken early today. White House Physician Howard M. Snyder was called to his bedside at 2 a. m.

Hagerty said a dextrose injection had been given to the President before going to the hospital.

Dextrose is a form of sugar. It is commonly used for intravenous feeding of patients for whom stomach feeding is deemed inadvisable.

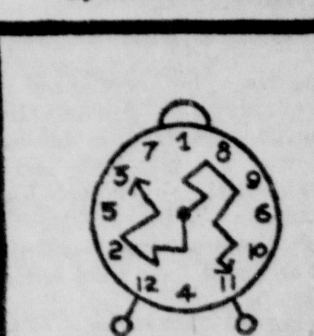

Hagerty issued this statement: "The President had an attack of an ileitis (inflammation of the lower portion of the small intestine)."

"As a precautionary measure he is being taken to Walter Reed Hospital this afternoon."

"CUCKOO CLOCK"

A clock like this serves a double purpose. It can be enjoyed by both Clock and Bird Watchers. However, if you don't practice either of these hobbies there are other advantages to a time-piece like this. For one thing, it never has to be wound up because it's always wrong whether it's running or not. Also, this clock is a million laughs if you lend it to a house guest who has to catch an 8 o'clock train, or if you show it to your boss when you walk into the office at eleven thirty. The only drawback is what happens when daylight savings time rolls around. When everyone else is pushing their clock ahead, you've got to shove this one sideways. Which isn't easy.

State Patrol Warns Of Dangers In Using Sleep-Killing Pills

Use Of Drugs Can Result In Bad Accidents

Patrol Recommends Resting As A Must After Tiring Ride

With the great amount of truck traffic in Pickaway County, residents should be interested in a warning issued by the State Patrol concerning sleep-killing pills sometimes used by truckers.

Noting that use of the pills is apparently on the increase among commercial drivers, the Patrol cautioned that the initial effect of dispelling drowsiness may be followed by a feeling of being impervious to danger with the resulting loss of good judgment and common sense in driving.

Patrolmen reported finding one driver in such a state of stupor that it was nearly impossible to rouse him when he was found asleep in the cab of his truck. He admitted taking pills he called "bennies" that he purchased at a truck stop in New Jersey.

In another case investigated by the Patrol, the wife of a truck driver said her husband has lost 40 pounds in weight since he started relying on the pills about six months previous.

According to authorities, the most dangerous of the pills are those containing Benzodrine or a derivative. This drug, which has a wide reputation for increasing alertness, also, when taken in improper quantity, may produce headache, delirium, dizziness, fatigue and loss of ability to concentrate.

When tired from driving or long working hours, rest is the only safe remedy, the Patrol said. Not "bennies," or any unknown pill purchased at a truck stop or obtained from a "friend."

If "bennies" have been substituted for sleep, a driver's memory may black out completely or his judgment fail completely. While drivers may believe they are driving safely they are actually risking their life and others every minute.

When used to keep going, authorities point out these sleep-killing pills "borrow" energy that the driver's body cannot afford to spend. All at once none are left and unconsciousness can ensue while the driver is behind the wheel on the road.

The Patrol pointed out that its primary concern over the use of the drug is the safety factor involved and said it is convinced that a driver depending on "bennies" or "goof pills" to keep him awake is a great accident risk.

The Patrol said it has adopted a policy of reporting sale of the pills, whether by individuals or business places, to the Federal Food and Drug Administration for investigation and prosecution by federal authorities.

Railings Against GOP Failed To Convince Young Ashbrook

WASHINGTON — As an Ohio youngster, John Ashbrook used to listen to Democrats railing at Republicans as the "party of the few."

What's more, he says, he was to some extent sold on this idea. He had, as he puts it, a "stereotype" of Republicans as rather "cantankerous" individuals who caused the depression.

Ashbrook was a teen-ager in Johnstown (Licking County) then, the son of a veteran Democratic congressman—the late Rep. William A. Ashbrook.

But those days of suspecting Republicans are utterly gone now. Now 28, young Ashbrook has become such a complete convert to the GOP cause that he heads the Ohio League of Young Republican Clubs.

A tall, earnest, sandy-haired young man, Ashbrook was discussing his switch to the Republicans the other day while attending a

Young Republican "leadership school."

"It was in 1948," he said. "I was a student at Harvard University, and I started thinking about whether I was a Republican or a Democrat."

"I disagreed with the Democrats' foreign policy and, domestically, their fiscal policy. I was against Truman that year, but I did campaign for Paul Dever, a Democrat, for governor of Massachusetts."

So in 1949, or thereabouts, Ashbrook finally cut all ties with the Democrats. As he puts it: "It had become a radical party."

Since then, he's been all out for the Republicans. He bought a weekly in 1953, the Johnstown Independent, a paper he says had been Democratic for 80 years. It's been Republican since.

In addition, he's campaign chairman for the Young Republicans National Federation.

Ashley feels that a lot of young people are voting GOP these days, whereas 10 years or more ago this group often favored the Democrats.

And the reason for this, he believes, is that "the Republican Party had to live with a ghost for 15 years—the depression. This has been the first time the party has had a chance to show what it can do, that it isn't just the party of the few."

Turkey Demanding Responsible Press

ANKARA — Turkey's Parliament has adopted a tough new press law providing prison sentences for newsmen and suspension for newspapers publishing "false news."

Another clause provides prison terms for foreign correspondents who report "baseless or exaggerated news likely to shatter the prestige of the government."

The law also sets educational standards for newsmen and gives the government the right to suspend publications for three months. It requires newspapers to publish denials of stories in full and without comment, with the same prominence as that given the reports being denied.

May Employment Hits New High

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Commerce Weeks says employment in May rose to 65 million, a new record for the month and just one-half million short of the all-time high mark set last August.

Weeks says May employment represented a jump of about one million jobholders over April. This was the second straight month in which employment had increased at that rate.

The secretary said that despite layoffs of workers in automobile production, unemployment last month was about the same as for April when there were 2,600,000 without jobs.

He added, however, that recently private businesses have entered into the raffle business, apparently to stimulate trade.

Agents Given Chief Credit For 'Discovering' New Stars

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — Want to know who discovers movie stars these days? Despite what you may have read about eagle-eyed producers, agents are the ones who do the discovering.

It's unglamorous but true. Most of young hopefuls who are signed by the studios in Hollywood are not found in drive-in restaurants or soda fountains. They are brought to the studios by alert agents, interviewed, tested and signed.

Take Felicia Farr. The legend promoted about this taffy-haired beauty was that she was tabbed for stardom by her studio while slaving in a local eatery.

"Not so," says Felicia. "A friend of mine was hostess at DuPar's Restaurant in the Farmers Market. She got sick and asked me if I would take over her job for a week so she wouldn't lose it. I wasn't working at the time, so I agreed to do it."

"It wasn't the studio that discovered me; it was an agent, Herbert Gold. He asked me if I would be interested in a film career. I thought it was the same old line, so I didn't take much notice."

The agent persisted. Felicia was not exactly a tyro, having done a lot of TV commercials in New York. "I was the Betty Furness type, always opening and closing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adlai Stevenson, after knocking Estes Kefauver into the political bleachers, has the inside track for the Democratic presidential nomination, but —

The main problem of the Democrats remains exactly what it was before the primaries: Will they have issues sharp enough and heated enough to make the voters want to scrap President Eisenhower for a Democrat?

Neither Stevenson nor Kefauver was able to set any prairie fires with primary campaign attacks on Eisenhower and his administration. The reasons are not hard to find.

In the first place, the Democrats this year lack the inflammatory issues the Republicans had or were able to create in the 1952 campaign: the Korean War, the "scandals," and the Communist scare.

In the second place, the bulk of the Democrats and Republicans are so close together—in following a middle-of-the-road course—that the basic differences between them are more of degree than of kind.

A foreigner, or a person without emotional or political attachments to either party, might have difficulty recognizing any real differences between Democrats and Republicans at all.

In the third place, the Republicans have taken over the Democrats' basic programs, thus robbing them of a lot of talking points.

For the 20 years they were out of office the Republicans preached against what they called the "creeping socialism" of the New Deal and "Fair" Deals.

But after Eisenhower moved into the White House the Republicans not only retained all the major programs of the Roosevelt-Truman years, including foreign policy, but even expanded them. They repudiated none of them.

In the fourth place, the country is at peace, it is enjoying high prosperity, and war with Russia seems more remote than any time since 1948, all of which makes it difficult to get voters excited.

And even one of the issues upon which some Democrats seemed to be basing a lot of hope—the charge that the administration was giving away natural resources—has been diluted.

When Democrats start talking about giveaways, the Republicans can remind the voters that Southern Democrats were in the front of the fight which persuaded Congress to let the government give the states the oil-rich submerged lands.

And it was Southern Democrats who this year led the successful fight to get Congress to pass a bill taking direct federal control off the natural gas producers. Eisenhower vetoed the bill, while supporting its objectives.

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — The man was lying on the front seat of a parked automobile, apparently fiddling with the car's ignition, as Police Lt. Jack Purdie walked over to question him.

"I'm just waiting for my friend who owns this car to come back," the man replied.

"That's funny," Purdie said. "I thought this car belonged to the city and that I was using it as a detective's car."

The man, Grover Dennis Chapman, 42, was booked as drunk, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 30 days in jail.

Professor Urging Time For 'Thinking'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The daily coffee break at the office should be joined by the "think break," an associate professor of psychology at the University of California, Harrison Gough, made that proposal Thursday.

He says workers should be granted a "think time" as much time as is allotted for coffee breaks—so that they can sit down and think out their problems without interruption.

Then, when they get back to work, Gough said, "their minds will be free and they'll know what they're doing."

How Goes The Cold War Now?

Soviet Communism Playing Bold Double Game In World

Editor's Note: Following is the last in a series of four articles studying the progress of the Cold War in the light of recent maneuvering by the new regime in Russia.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

Soviet communism is playing a bold double game.

The Kremlin seeks to make itself respectable in the eyes of the Western world. But it makes no effort to hide the fact that it still actively supports and inspires revolution by violence.

Moscow proclaims itself the champion of peaceful coexistence. But Communist doctrine in its up-to-date revision clings to the notion that Western capitalism must lead to war.

Russian leaders are engaged in a concentrated campaign to win friends. But Moscow still preaches subversion by trickery, deceit and violence.

The Soviet hierarchy throws out one challenge after another to the West, and looks for challenges to accept. It may even go so far—in the light of reappraisal of push-button war prospects of the future—as to accept some aspects of President Eisenhower's open skies proposals for mutual air inspection of military installations.

The Russian leadership may do this because its planning is long range. The immediate objectives are propaganda victories aimed at breaking down Western unity. For the next 10 years at least, the Soviet Communists have indicated, the idea of world war is ruled out. But the Soviet Union will remain armed to the teeth, prepared to take advantage of any accident that might require a revision of the timetable.

The Soviet program has been publicly spelled out, for the benefit of Communist leaders from 55 countries who attended the 20th Soviet Communist Congress in Moscow last February. The dogma, laid down in the resolutions of that Congress, is that there can be no true peace while capitalism exists. The specific resolution said:

"While capitalism remains on earth, the reactionary forces representing the interests of the capitalist monopolies will also, in the future, strive for military adventures and aggressions and try to unleash a war."

The Communist leadership bases its thinking on the idea that world capitalism is in crisis. It waits for an economic crash in the United States which will send Europe into a tailspin. On this basis, the U.S.S.R. has undertaken a 10 or 15-year program of building for economic competition with the United States. Eventually, Moscow indicates, it hopes to break down Western unity and "positions of strength," and be in a position to push Soviet communism into new adventures without risking World War III.

TENSIONS NOT NEW

"MODERN DAY tensions" frequently are blamed for heart disease and other ailments and problems. What those who thus glibly assess the blame seem to overlook is that the more primitive man, who had colonies of saber-toothed tigers for neighbors, lived through some rather tense moments, too.

"How do you measure tension?" asks Dr. James Watt, director of the National Heart Institute for the U. S. Public Health Service.

"Are today's tensions any different than those our pioneer ancestors suffered wondering how soon they would get their scalps lifted? They had some pretty complicated worries over feeding and clothing the kids, too."

Dr. Watt points out that heart disease is becoming a national problem with 53 per cent of all deaths caused by it. The answer may lie in modern man's environment, he adds.

"But just saying the increase is caused by tensions or our civilized type diet, without proof, may be the best possible way to insure we will not get where we are going—toward preventive programs."

Ten years ago, Dr. Watt points out, hardening of the arteries was like the weather. It was considered an inevitable consequence of old age and nobody did anything about it.

IN THE ROUND IN A TENT

WHAT'S NEW for Broadway musical shows, but old for showmanship, is the "tent theatre" idea for Summer entertainment on a large scale. At Lambertville, N. J., a tent theatre for the last several Summers has been demonstrating that people will come in droves by car and bus from Philadelphia and New York to see musical comedies with casts of a quality up to road shows of Broadway standards.

That was the first of several big tops of their kind in the East.

This sort of theatre in a tent of circus proportions may not have the cosy intimacy of the little Summer stock outfits in barns. But the little ones do not go in for big musical shows anyway. Not enough stage facilities, not enough seating capacity to handle an audience of profitable size. So they stick to plays—often plays of dramatists who never think of appealing to mass audiences. The huge tent affairs seem to be tapping a new market.

SENSELESS BRAVADO

WITH JUVENILE delinquency alleged to be increasing, many studies have been made to determine what makes young people turn "bad." Among the many theories advanced are the usual ones such as that the older generation is going to the dogs, or parents are more to blame than the children, or comic books, television and radio are responsible, and so forth.

In conjunction with these theories there is another one which is often overlooked by those seeking to place the blame for youthful errands. That is the fact that society itself has changed. No longer is the importance of hard work and serious thinking stressed in the home.

While the 40-week and child labor laws eased the burdens of many, they also left much unspent energy bottled up in the young people, many of whom began looking for diversions to give them a "thrill" or leave off steam.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Tito is really a product of the errors of the West. It was the betrayal of Mikhailovitch by the United States and Great Britain that gave Tito his strength and authority.

Perhaps in the year 1956, the name, Mikhailovich, is forgotten but he organized the resistance to Nazism and to Hitler in all the Yugoslavian countries; he organized on a democratic basis; he was opposed to the brutality of Communism as he was to the brutality of the Nazi.

Opposing Mikhailovich was Josip Broz Tito, Communist, member of the Third International and until 1948, completely dominated by the Kremlin whose agent he was. After Mikhailovich had served the Allied cause, he was abandoned by them and Yugoslavia became part of the Soviet world with Tito as dictator.

Russia had no troops in Yugoslavia and therefore Tito was freer than some of the other satellite dictators. Years before when Earl Browder had proposed "American exceptionalism" to the Third International, it was Tito who most violently opposed the Browder concept of Communistic nationalism, but Tito adopted this doctrine as his own and for it, in June 1948, he was expelled from the Third International which at that time went by the name of Cominform.

As early as March 20, 1948, Tito wrote to Molotov that Marshal Bulganin, who was then Minister of People's Defense, was removing all military advisers and instructors from Yugoslavia because they are "surrounded by hostility." The reason offended Tito. The fact of the matter is that Soviet Russia attempted to reduce Yugoslavia to a satellite which Tito resisted. In a letter dated March 27, 1948, the Communist Party of Soviet Russia wrote to the Communist Party of Yugoslavia:

"We readily admit that every Communist Party, among them the Yugoslav, has the right to criticize the CPSU, even as the CPSU has the right to criticize any other Communist Party. But Marxism demands that criticism be above-board and not underhand and slanderous, thus depriving those criticized of the opportunity to reply to the criticism."

"However, the criticism by the Yugoslav officials is neither open nor honest; it is both underhand and dishonest and of a hypocritical nature, because, while discrediting the CPSU behind its back, publicly they pharisaically praise it to the skies. Thus criticism is transformed into slander, into an attempt to discredit the CPSU and to blacken the Soviet system."

Tito replied on April 13: "Among many Soviet people there exists the mistaken idea that the sympathy of the broad masses in Yugoslavia towards the USSR came of itself, on the basis of some traditions which go back to the time of Tsarist Russia. This is not so. Love for the USSR did not come of itself."

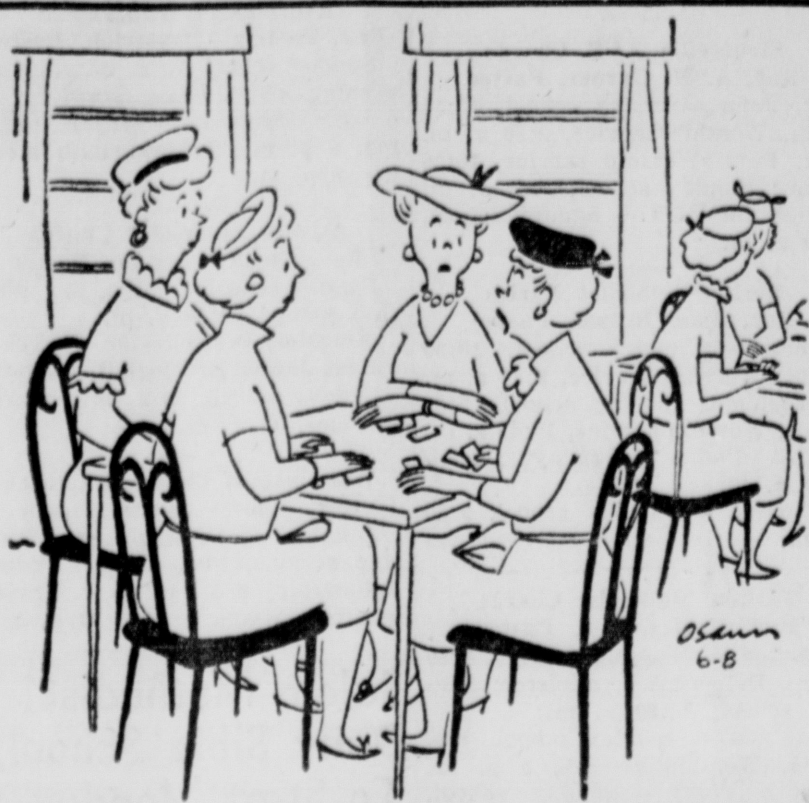

"It was stubbornly inculcated into the masses of the Party and the people in general by the present leaders of the new Yugoslavia, including, in the first rank, those so seriously accused in the letter. The present leaders of new Yugoslavia are the same who, long before the war, sparing neither efforts nor sacrifices, persistently revealed to the masses the truth about the Soviet Union and planted among the masses of Yugoslavia love for the land of Socialism."

It was in this same letter that Tito wrote:

"We cannot allow the Soviet Intelligence Service to spread its net in our country. We have our state security and our intelligence service for the struggle against various foreign capitalist elements and class enemies within the country, and if the Soviet intelligence agents need information or assistance in this direction they can obtain it whenever they want to; on our part, this has been done until now."

Shop With Caution For Child's Shoes

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

SO you think it's a tough job to go shopping for shoes for your youngster? It might be a lot harder physically on the child.

Excessive use of those fluoroscopes found in some retail shoe stores these days can be dangerous to any tot's foot.

Now I'm not saying that testing the fit of the shoe a few times with these machines will harm him.

Skin Damage

But uncontrolled length of exposure and repeated exposures as you travel from store to store with him, can affect his foot. It might cause skin damage or even bone distortion.

Maybe the ordinary method of measurement and observation still is best, at least if you insist upon the youngster trying on innumerable pairs of shoes.

Just remember that your tot's shoes should be one thumb-width longer than his foot and one finger-width wider.

Oxford Style

Generally, shoes which lace across the tongue are best for youngsters. An Oxford style usually is preferred for a child of two or more since high shoes offer no additional support. This might give better protection against the weather, but that's about their only advantage. The shoes should be made of solid leather and have thick, inflexible soles.

I think you'll find this type of shoe will be better for your child than booties, shoes made of artificial leather and those with rubber or soft soles.

Roughen Soles

If the soles are smooth, I suggest you roughen them with a pocket knife or scraper to give them a better grip.

One word about orthopedic shoes. Just remember that corrective shoes should be ordered by prescription and only after a doctor makes a proper diagnosis of the foot condition.

Otherwise, some appliances built into so-called orthopedic shoes might only damage the child's feet.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

A. K.: What is Raynaud's disease?

Answer: It is a rare disease, most often found in women, and is similar to Burger's disease that occurs in men.

It is a disease in which the hands become cold and blue and the circulation gradually becomes less and less. Gangrene can develop if this disease is allowed to progress.

CHAPTER 42

VAL MOVED over to a lamp on the verandah and read the letter Eileen had written to Bruce shortly before she was killed:

Darling, darling Bruce. I am writing this in a terrific hurry just in case Mummy should do something stupid and publish the announcement of my engagement to Dirk. I hope to Heaven she doesn't, but you know Mummy. And the poor dear is so delighted about this phony engagement she's like a dog wagging six tails. You know her heart's been acting up lately, and the doctor implores me to do everything I can to keep her calmed down, until the danger is past. We know what is really upsetting her is us, darling—her terror that I'll dash off and marry you, which I shall do directly I'm twenty-one. But for the moment I've hit on the bright idea of a pretended engagement between Dirk and myself. He's always been a good friend of mine, as you know, though he isn't one scrap in love with me. He has agreed to let me tell Mummy that he and I are engaged. And goodness, it was the best tonic she could have had. She literally got out of her sick bed and almost danced a jig.

I think the main reason Dirk consented to my plan is that he's always been really fond of Mummy and is concerned about her health. You know he lost his own mother when he was a kid and Mummy and he have always understood each other. He has understood her much better than I ever have, but then Dirk is the sort who always makes allowances for everyone. If he likes people, he doesn't seem to mind how badly they behave. Anyhow this is just to warn you that should you hear anything about this fake engagement, there's nothing to it, just a device to keep Mummy quiet until we can be secretly married. You know, my darling, my very own darling, I'd never marry anyone in the world but you.

Yours always, Eileen

There were tears in Val's eyes as she finished reading the letter, but she made no comment.

After a few minutes Bruce cleared his throat rather noisily and said, "That letter alters everything for me, as you see. I realize I owe Hanson an apology." He looked toward her. "Will you apologize to him for me, Val?"

She nodded. "If you want me to, I know just how you're feeling, Bruce," she added slowly. "Don't show Cynthia that letter," Val said impulsively. "Try to forget it."

"I shall never be able to forget it, Val. That's asking the impossible," he said finally.

The Carraways drifted out on the verandah, and they all said goodbye. John and Jane asked Bruce to drop in and see them whenever he had the time. He thanked them and left the house.

The small ship, half-passenger, half-cargo, was sailing down Southampton Sound. It was raining, but Val, glancing through the porthole, didn't mind the rain. Dirk was meeting her. She had his radiogram crumpled in her apron pocket.

She saw him immediately the ship docked. He was pacing up and down the dock in the gray, persistent rain. It was easy to distinguish him from the others who were also awaiting the arrival of the ship. He was so tall and thin, and in his closely belted raincoat he looked almost emaciated. She saw that his eyes were searching the passengers—the faces of the passengers—gathered on the main deck intently and eagerly, but when apparently he couldn't find her face among them, she saw a look of blank dismay cloud his face.

Suddenly she sensed his disappointment as though it has been her own personal hurt, and she knew she had to do something about it. She went quickly down to her own cabin and slipped a white raincoat over her uniform. Then she ran up the stairs to the purser's office. He was a nice elderly man, a good friend of hers, and he agreed she might go ashore for a few minutes before winding up her duties.

Almost as soon as she'd left his office she was running down the gangplank. Dirk, who had caught one glimpse of her poised at the top of the gangplank, rushed forward to meet her, his thin face breaking into a happy grin. He caught her in his arms before she had reached the bottom step, and lifted her slight body down onto the dock, holding her so closely she could scarcely breathe.

But presently he held her a little away from him, his eyes looking gravely down into her pretty face. What he saw must have satisfied him, for when he spoke it was in a rough, uneven voice, quite unlike his usual voice.

"My darling, my darling," he said hoarsely, "you've decided, haven't you?"

She nodded and said breathlessly, "Yes, Dirk, yes."

But he held her away from him for several long moments before he drew her sharply toward him again and kissed her lips hungrily.

"I love you, I love you, my darling," he said in a low voice that had become suddenly gentle. "I love you, Dirk."

Again he caught her to him, holding her close, and again he kissed her wet, flushed face. "You've come home at last, my darling," he said presently.

"Yes, thank heavens I'm home, Dirk," she whispered.

And it was good to be home, to be sure of her own heart at last; to have buried her doubts and her heartaches, to know so surely where her real happiness lay.

The shortest play in the world, avers Walter Blumenthal, must be a gem by Tristan Bernard called "The Exile." The entire cast consists of a mountaineer and an exile. The curtain's rise discloses the mountaineer whittling in front of his cabin door. Enter the exile, beseeching, "Whoever you are, have pity on a hunted man. There's a price on my head." Says the whittler, still whittling, "How much?" That's the complete, unabridged text.

Can't Marry Great Grandma

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
(For Hal Boyle)

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—In Pakistan, a Moslem may have four wives and a Hindu any number. But in Tennessee a man can get 21 years in prison for having only two.

So says a lately published U.N. survey of marriage and divorce laws in 24 countries. Such laws were studied because of their effect on population, a concern of the economic and social council. They show great diversity.

In Sweden, under ordinary circumstances, no man may marry under 21 years old nor woman under 18. In Argentina, Honduras, Panama and Northern Ireland, on the other hand, a boy may marry at 14 and a girl at 12, given parental consent. The lowest minimum ages in the United States are 14 and 13, in New Hampshire.

The report states, without elaboration, that in Queensland, Australia, "where either party is under the age of 7, the marriage is absolutely void." It sets out that in the Netherlands, no person under 30 may marry without his parents' consent—though he may appeal to a justice of the peace if they stand in the way.

When a minor marries in Czechoslovakia, as he may do from 16 up with court approval, he immediately becomes an adult before the law with as many legal rights as any Czechoslovak citizen has.

Many countries define in great detail the degrees of relationship within which marriages are prohibited. India expressly forbids a man to marry his great grandmother.

White people are barred from marrying Negroes in over half the states of the United States; Mongolians in 11; Malaysians in 6; American Indians in 4. White people may not marry Koreans in South Dakota and Hindus in Arizona.

Sweden allows the marriage of prisoners. Pakistan forbids the marriage of Shia-Moslem pilgrims who have entered the sacred territory of Mecca.

In Ontario, Canada, a clergyman can be fined $500 and jailed for a year if he marries a man and woman who are drunk.

France penalizes the sale of contraceptives with prison terms up to three years. Eight states in the United States also forbid their sale. Connecticut forbids their use. But Alabama, Florida, South Carolina and Virginia finance birth-control programs.

Local Junior Woman's Club Installs Officers At Meet

Mrs. Ray W. Davis Conducts Ceremony

Mrs. Ray W. Davis, president of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs installed new officers for Circleville Junior Woman's Club during their annual June dinner meeting, held Thursday evening at the Pickaway Arms.

Special guests were Carol Bass and Peggy Hoover, 1956 winner and runner-up, respectively, in the Junior Woman's Club Scholarship Contest.

Mrs. Davis in her speech urged the members to reflect on their past and to take pride in their accomplishments as a club as they looked to the future. She said that the president of any woman's club as well as its members has a great responsibility, because of the tremendous influence of women in our world.

She said plans are being made to unify the departments of work within the Federation, to provide program service with meaning and significance to individual clubs and to make District Conferences club clinics, where clubs may bring their problems and other clubs will help in solving them.

She said that it will be the aim of her administration to encourage a process of education where by each club and its member will learn all about the services of OFWC and how best to use them.

New officers installed by Mrs. Davis were: Mrs. Kenneth Luna, president; Mrs. Paul Jackson, vice-president; Mrs. Gus Costis, recording secretary; Mrs. Stanley Spring, corresponding secretary and Mrs. Harry Turner, treasurer.

Mrs. Norman Kutler retiring president presented Mrs. Luna with her president's pin at the close of a brief business session during which Mrs. Richard Penn was named chairman for the club's annual Harvest Ball, which October 6 has been set as the tentative date.

Reports were given and the members discussed the Memorial Day bake sale, of which the proceeds will be used for the community project of giving money to the home economic room and for the club tour.

The remainder of the meeting was spent by the members working on their sewing projects.

The group will hold a health program July 11 and safety program June 27.

Refreshments will be presented by Linda Reid and Anne Glitt.

Auto Industry Tries Dose Of Nasty Medicine

Car-Makers Touchy On Idea Their Ills Hurt Whole Country

By SAM DAWSON

DETROIT (AP)—The auto industry—touchy at the charge its current ailments may be catching and upsetting the nation's good times in general—is trying some stiff medicine today.

It professes confidence that by fall it will cease to be one of the nation's fever spots. And it stresses that retail sales this year of an estimated 5½ million cars or more would be higher than the average of the six years prior to 1955.

The dose, however, has a bad taste. The mixture includes:

Layoffs around the nation of 185,000 or more; loss of overtime and often short weeks and paychecks for those still working; production cut back around 30 per cent from this time last year, with a drop in earnings for the companies; suppliers cutting back, too; auto dealers loudly bemoaning stocks on hand that recently topped 900,000.

Merchants watch business slide. And there's the hard to pinpoint effect on public psychology, particularly in the auto producing areas, but also throughout many other industries, and among many consumers.

The United Auto Workers Union has called in the mayors of 18 cities in Michigan, Indiana, Ohio and Wisconsin to discuss here today what can be done to ease the pains.

Spokesmen for the industry say they expect present production schedule plans to be sufficient to whittle down inventories to 750,000 by the end of this month, to 700,000 by model changeover time and perhaps to 550,000 by the first of September—the traditional clean up period for the dealers and the happy hunting days of the annual bargain seekers.

General Motors President Harlow H. Curtice notes that GM has raised its production schedules six times and lowered them eight times during this 1956 model period. GM will take its final look around the middle of this month and set the rest of the course then.

President L. L. Colbert of Chrysler thinks present schedules about right because its dealers' inventories are in a better relation to production than at this time a year ago.

Ford takes a new look at schedules about once a month. President Henry Ford II calls present sales volume a return to normal after "the abnormal pace" of the 7½ million car year in 1955.

All of the big three say that the failure of the traditional spring pickup in sales to appear this year was a surprise to most observers but didn't affect their changeover plans. GM and Chrysler expect to present their models around November 1 and Ford around October 1, in all cases the same as last year.

Ford adds that the dip in employment at changeover time will be kept as short lived as possible—"we lose money while the plant is down".

Hopes for a good pickup in the fall are based on many things. A top GM executive notes that used car sales have perked up, always a healthy sign. He expects bet-

Sokolsky's These Days

Considerable correspondence pass between the two countries and some of it was quite vituperative. On June 28, the Cominform stated:

"The Yugoslav leaders evidently do not understand or, probably, pretend they do not understand, that such a nationalist line can only lead to Yugoslavia's degeneration into an ordinary bourgeois republic, to the loss of its independence and to its transformation into a colony of the imperialist countries."

A call was made upon true Marxist-Leninists in Yugoslavia to change the leadership of their party and government; that is, to kick out Tito.

The essential error was to permit the betrayal of Mikhailovich by the United States and Great Britain and to build up Tito into a great international figure. Thus, our policy has again proved to have been without understanding and imagination.

1,000 To Attend Buckeye Boys State

CAMP PERRY, Ohio (AP)—Almost 1,000 boys were expected to attend the annual Buckeye Boys State which opened today at this Ohio National Guard camp on Lake Erie.

The youngsters, selected juniors from high schools throughout the state, will become residents of 20 different "cities," grouped into the four counties which make up the mythical state.

They are divided into two political parties to conduct campaigns with elections Monday for state offices. The young officials will assume duties Tuesday and disband Sunday, June 17.

Boys State is sponsored by the American Legion.

ter dealer relations and dealers "ready to do a better selling job." He notes that employment in general around the nation is still at top levels and personal incomes at a record high. He counts on people feeling better about planning and buying as the political uncertainties are settled.

O'Neill Campaign Expenses Listed

COLUMBUS (AP)—Four committee's which campaigned for Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill, who won the Republican nomination for governor in the May 8 primary, yesterday reported contributions totaling $38,100 and expenditures of $35,495.

O'Neill himself reported receiving $250 and spending $244. His campaign committee reported contributions of $33,193, expenditures of $32,873 and unpaid debts of $8,200. His Franklin County committee received $3,912, spent $1,751 and reported the balance available for the Nov. 6 election campaign. A Franklin County lawyers' committee supporting O'Neill received $585 and spent $455.

Education Board Rulings Outlined

COLUMBUS (AP)—Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill has ruled that an education board member passing upon purchases of large quantities of school supplies from a company who employs him holds an interest in such contracts in violation of state law.

The opinion also said an education board member regularly employed as attorney by a casualty company from which the board buys large amounts of insurance and bonds has an interest in such contracts in violation of statute.

$2 Million Added To Flood Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Clements (D-Ky) said Thursday that at his request a Senate subcommittee added more than two million dollars to appropriations approved by the house for flood control and navigation projects in Kentucky.

He said the changes included an increase from $100,000 to $150,000 for the New Richmond lock and dam on the Ohio River and a similar increase in the $100,000 appropriated for planning the Nolin dam.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Why do outward appearances count for so much in this world? I am college educated, in my early thirties; and I am considered nice looking and dress well. I probably spend too much on my wardrobe and have the feeling that some day I will regret not salting more away.

However, I find in my work—secretarial—that the emphasis is placed on appearance first, and ability second. Each time I have gone for a job-interview I know that my grooming is being noted as much if not more than my scholastic and past business record.

Frankly, none of the jobs I have landed has ever utilized my potentialities, career-wise, and I am getting fed-up with getting dressed-up every day to come in to a mediocre job.

I can't help but toy with the fancy of what would happen if I appeared at work some day in a sloppy dress, with down-at-heel shoes and runs in my stockings. I am sure my boss would be shocked.

R. S.

DEAR R. S.: Your feelings and views about outward appearances are rather confused. It seems you are falling short of whatever goals you'd hoped to attain by this age; and you are resentful about it, and don't know which way to turn, or what to do, to get on the beam. And so you are blaming the world for being all wrong.

Now, to get you straightened out about appearances: In your complaint—that too much emphasis is placed on a person's appearance nowadays, without regard for his (or her) special human qualities—you strongly imply that "appearance" consists wholly of what one is wearing. And that to make a favorable impression, one must be rather emphatically well-dressed.

Actually, the theory that "appearances off proclaim the man" isn't new to our day. It was true in Shakespeare's day also—and it was he who coined the phrase I've quoted above. And here indeed is the heart of the matter—one's manner of dress is apt to reveal one's true inner self. Would-be misleading show isn't likely to deceive the astute beholder.

When we look at a person, we usually see the individual in entirety, if we are in the habit of looking perceptively. Personality

(what one is) shows in the face, in the eyes and mouth particularly, and in the cast of the countenance; also in the general bodily bearing. And the individual's choice of clothing (his or her total wardrobe and daily costume) usually reflect with remarkable accuracy that person's tastes, ambitions, associations, and purchasing power.

Boudreau Halts Mantle, But Not That Yogi

Mick's Bat Average Drops, But Berra Fattens In Kansas City

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Now that Kansas City Manager Lou Boudreau has Mickey Mantle "figured out," what's he going to do about Yogi Berra?

Boudreau did about as good a job of "stopping" Mantle as any one has this season, employing a shift that packs the defense to the right. The Mick got only four hits in 11 trips and his major league leading average dropped from .411 to .403 in the three-game series just completed by the A's at Yankee Stadium.

But what about Berra? The Yogi macked six hits in nine trips in the three games, drove in five runs, scored six and hit three homers. The Yanks hardly knew Mantle was missing.

Berra, a bad ball, spray hitter, hit his 16th homer and fourth in four games—to get the Yankees rolling on a 9-1 decision over the A's Thursday. He added two singles and drove in two runs—giving him six homers, 10 RBIs and .545 average in six games against the A's this year.

The victory pushed New York into a 4½-game lead as runner-up Cleveland was dumped by Baltimore 5-2. The Chicago White Sox beat Washington 7-5 and Boston trimmed Detroit 6-5 in 10 innings.

Cincinnati's rugged Redlegs boomed into the National League lead, by a half game over idle St. Louis, by blasting Philadelphia 8-5 while the Chicago Cubs dropped Pittsburgh to third 5-2. Milwaukee closed Brooklyn's winning streak at four games as Bob Buhl pitched a four-hitter to win 4-1.

Hank Bauer hit his 13th homer for the Yankees, knocking in his 34th run—not bad for a guy hitting .203. The A's didn't shift against Mantle—hitting righthanded against three southpaws led by loser Alex Kellner—and he had two-for-four. Bob Turley won it for a 3-2 record.

Patterson Favored To Beat Jackson

NEW YORK (AP)—Floyd Patterson, a precision puncher, and Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson, an unorthodox mauler, clash tonight in a 12-round elimination bout that will move the winner one step from the vacant heavyweight throne.

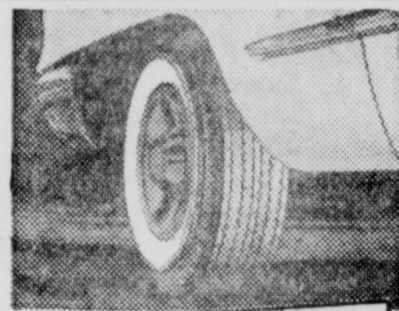

The 21-year-old Patterson, grown into a 181-pound, six-footer, is favored to whip the strong, tireless 6-2½, 193-pound Jackson and go on to a title fight against light heavyweight champion Archie Moore in September.

Not in recent years has a non-title fight whipped up such interest as this collision of heavyweights with widely contrasting styles. Although the scrap will be broadcast and telecast (9 p. m. EST), a crowd of 10,000 will pay around $50,000 to see the live action.

Each fighter gets $40,000. Patterson, beaten only by former light heavyweight champion Joey Maxim in a 30-fight career, was a 13-5 favorite early in the week. Plenty of Jackson money dropped the odds to 2-1. The price may be lower by fight time.

Jackson supporters say the indefatigable Hurricane from New York's Far Rockaway section will take everything the 1952 Olympic champion has to throw and wear him down with his mauling style.

"After the third round it will be all Jackson," said Tommy's co-trainer, Freddy Brown.

Tebbetts Takes Long Gamble To Boost Redlegs Into First

CINCINNATI (AP)—Manager Birdie Tebbetts, who says he's a pretty good card player, led from his weak suit Thursday and finessed the Cincinnati Redlegs right into first place in the National League.

The last time the Redlegs ever were in first place on the June 8 date was in 1940 when they won the pennant and the World Series.

Four starting pitchers have been carrying the load in the Redlegs' drive so Tebbetts went to his admittedly weak second-line hurlers for a starter against the Philadelphia Phils.

He brought out Hal Jeffcoat and from the time Jeffcoat faded out of the picture in the sixth, Tebbetts shuffled four more hurlers into the game before the Reds won it, 8-5 as the Chicago Cubs beat previous front-running Pittsburgh.

Now his first-line right-handers are ready for the Brooklyn Dodgers, who moved in for a three-game series. The Dodgers are fresh from winning three out of four from Milwaukee.

Tebbetts was quick to claim that his move in starting Jeffcoat, a onetime outfielder, was not just to save Johnny Klippstein, Art Fowler and Brooks Lawrence for the Dodgers.

"We need a fifth starting pitcher," he said. "Somewhere, I've got to find one. Jeffcoat had been doing such a good job in relief, I thought I'd try him. And I thought he did pretty good."

Circleville Team In County League Seeking Sponsor

Circleville's entry in the County Baseball League is seeking a sponsor.

This cost of sponsorship is low and the local boys have shown plenty of promise. Anyone who is interested should contact Dick Boyd at 556-R.

Circleville, in its first game, ended up in a 7-7 tie at Ashville last Wednesday. The contest will be continued from that point and will be played before the two teams meet again in three weeks.

The other two teams in the league are Scioto, with Delby Neff starring on the mound, and Amanda.

U.S. Sailor Chalks Distance Record

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A Navy sailor has set an American record for the 10,000 meter run, covering the six miles and 388 yards in 30 minutes, 31.9 seconds.

Joe Tyler, running in the Southern Pacific AAU track and field championships here last night, snipped 1½ seconds off the old record of 30:33.4. It was set in 1952 by Curt Stone of the New York AC. The world mark of 28:54.2 is held by Emil Zatopek.

Tyler, 24, a Los Angeles High School product stationed at the San Diego Naval Training Center, has only 16 more days to serve.

Marlene Hagge Holds Big Edge

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP)—Marlene Hagge of Asheville, N. C., started the third round of the $12,000 Triangle Round Robin in Golf Tournament with a five-point lead today.

Trailing Mrs. Hagge, the nation's current No. 1 money winner in women's golf ranks, was Joyce Ziske of Waterford, Wis., with a plus 18 points. Patty Berg of St. Andrews, Ill., was third with a plus 15 and Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., was fourth with a plus 13.

A player picks up or loses points by comparing her medal round with that of each of the other three in her foursome.

Souchak Sees Soundness In Hogan's Idea

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y. (AP)—Big Mike Souchak figures Ben Hogan will win his fifth National Open championship next week because Hogan can play all the shots and because he doesn't like to finish second.

By the same token, Souchak figures to do pretty well this week in the 15th Round Robin Tournament at Wykagyl. He held a slim lead over Bob Rosburg and Gene Littler after yesterday's opening round. He's a better-than-fair hand with a driver and he doesn't see any sense in being runnerup.

"Who knows who finishes second," Souchak asked after shooting a 67 and piling up 15 points in the first of the Round Robin Tournament's five rounds. "I finished second 10 times last year and nobody knew it. This year I was second a couple of times, then finally won one. Still, to be in the top 10 every week, you have to be very good. There are so many good players around."

Souchak's round of 34-33-67

over the par 34-33-67 course yesterday gave him only a one-point advantage over Rosburg and Littler going into today's two rounds. Souchak, playing with Fred Haas, who shot at 69, Billy Maxwell and former Open Champion Lloyd Mangrum, netted 15 plus points. Littler and Rosburg, fattening on Fred Hawkins and England's Henry Cotton, respectively, scored 14 each.

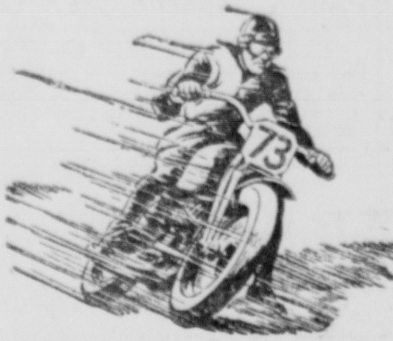

The wild-shooting, straight-putting Rosburg had 34-34-68 for the day's second best round. Littler and Haas, each with 34-35-69 were third in scoring.

Dow Finsterwald of Athens, Ohio fired a 75 for a minus-2-point standing.

IT'S SWITCHCRAFT — that's what it is!

You'll see when you try Buick's new Variable Pitch Dynaflo!

Buick Century 6-Passenger 2-Door Riviera

IT TAKES a new word to describe the magic at your command when you drive a '56 Buick — with the newest transmission of them all.

It's full power go-ahead on the instant. You can get where you were just looking in a shaved second's time—with the most modern and most thrilling surge of safety acceleration in the land today.

It's smoothness, too. Complete freedom from the "bump" and lag of gears shifting. Only with Dynaflo can you go winging away with so smooth a sweep.

And only with a '56 Buick can you enjoy Dynaflo's newest marvel. The engineers call it "double regeneration." Lets you start off like an Olympic sprinter, with the pedal pressed just an inch or less. (And driving that way, you get better gas mileage.)

There's more big news, too, that goes with this new Buick magic. And that covers a lot more than styling.

Sure—you'll like the graceful new beauty of the V-shaped prow and sweep-ahead look. And you'll like the extra room inside.

But as you drive you'll find that this Buick responds with the new might of a big, record-powered V8 engine of 322-cubic-inch heft.

It handles easy as butter to a warm knife. Tracks the curves like a plane on the beam. Makes any road seem paved with pillows.

And what's responsible for all this are more new engineering advances than Buick has ever made in one model year.

So why not come in and see—and feel—the difference they make? You'll soon know why owners find it's the best Buick yet—and the best buy yet, by far.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

We, the wife and family of the late Mrs. William Riegel, wish to express our sincere and heartfelt thanks to all those who were so kind and sympathetic at the time of the death of our dear husband, the late William Riegel, who departed this life on June 8, 1936.

More and more each day we will miss him. Friends may think the wound is healed. But they little know the sorrow lies within our hearts concealed. Deep in our hearts you are fondly remembered. # Kochheisers Win 3-2 Game In Babe Ruth League Play

Circleville 'Forced' To Use Shortstop As Pitcher, Who Retires First 20 Batters To Face Him

Circleville Kochheisers won their second Babe Ruth League game in a row by edging out the Columbus Glassblowers 3 to 2 in eight innings at Ted Lewis Park Thursday.

The most amazing thing about the game is that Circleville's pitcher was "forced" to do the hurling because of a league rule—but he is the regular shortstop with virtually no mound experience.

In spite of this, Cal Ellis came within one out of pitching a perfect no-run, no-hit, no-walk game. With two out in the seventh and Circleville leading 1-0, he walked their shortstop, who became the Glassblowers' first base runner. The next batter lofted a fly ball to center, which was dropped. Then, Minnear singled to drive in two runs and put them ahead 2-1. Actually, Ellis retired 20 consecutive batters. But the Glassblowers' hurler, Jim Miller, almost matched this. He had a no-hitter going for the first five innings.

CIRCLEVILLE took the lead in the sixth when Duane Dean and Terry Dean drew walks. Ellis hit into a double play, but Duane Dean advanced to third. Butch Wellington led off with a single. The local lads tied it up in the bottom of the seventh after the Glassblowers had scored twice. Ted Wellington led off with a single and stole second. Greenlee struck out and then Wellington scored on an infield error.

In the bottom of the eighth, Circleville won the game on two walks, a sacrifice and a hit. Terry Dean drew another base on balls, as did Ellis. Edgington laid down a perfect bunt and was thrown out at first while the other two runners advanced. Ray Phifer then smashed out a hit, which would have been a double in regulation play, but was credited only with a single as Dean scored the deciding run.

Kochheisers play twice next week. On Monday, they play their third straight game at Ted Lewis Park when they entertain Aquinas. Tuesday, the local lads travel to Columbus to play Grove City Furniture, the game scheduled at the Jewish Center field on College Ave. near E. Livingston Rd.

The league ruling which "forced" the use of Ellis is as follows: a team's 15-year old pitchers may be used in only one game a week. Since the Circleville team used those men unknowingly in

Indians Ready For Joust With Yankees

NEW YORK (AP)—The Cleveland Indians are holding their own in the American League pennant race. The New York Yankees haven't run away with it yet.

The Indians move into Yankee Stadium tonight just a game and a half farther behind the Yankees than they were a month ago.

On May 8, the Indians came here for their first series with the Yankees, trailing by three games. Now they trail by four and a half games, after yesterday's 5-2 loss to the Baltimore Orioles.

The Indians, who hold a 3-2 edge over the Yankees this season, are in worse shape physically than they were when the teams last met on May 16. Herb Score, the young pitcher who beat the Yanks 6-5 on May 9, is in a Baltimore hospital with a digestive ailment. Dr. Erwin Mayer said Score will be released in time to join the team in Boston Monday.

Third Baseman Al Rosen, sidelined for several weeks by a knee injury, is back in the lineup, but not yet in top form.

Outfielder Gene Woodling, disabled since May 8 by "dizzy spells," has recovered, but can't rejoin the Indians until June 15, since he had to stay on the disabled list for 30 days.

Pitcher Art Houtteman is nursing a sore shoulder and Preston Ward has a charley horse. Probable pitchers for the three-game series here are Early Wynn against the Yanks' Mickey McDermott tonight, Mike Garcia against Whitey Ford tomorrow, and Bob Lemon against Johnny Kucks on Sunday.

Ashville K of P Keglers Finish With Success

Ashville Knights of Pythias bowling teams completed another successful year, with the No. 1 team finishing third in the K of P Bowling League in Columbus by winning 43 of 81 games and compiling a 717 game average.

The No. 2 squad finished in fifth place with a 694 team average. Bolenbaugh Hardware, with a 790 average, won top honors in the 10-team league which met on Sunday evenings.

Ashville Keglers with the highest season averages include: Ray Lindsey, 161; Doyle Calvert, 145; Jerry Trego, 144; Dale Schiff and Gene Tosca, 143; and Felix Dore and Chester Peters, 142.

In the state K of P tournament, the No. 1 Ashville team placed 18th in competing with approximately 50 teams. Dale Schiff and Bryan Grant placed third in the doubles event, winning $40 in prize-money. Gene Tosca and Chester Peters were 14th, winning $18. Ray Badger and Paul Kuhlwein came in 20th, winning $12.

OTHER TEAM members winning prize-money were: Harry Hedges, in the singles event, and Gene Tosca and Bryan Grant, in the all-event competition. Grant also won second place honors in the individual high three games with handicap.

The Ashville bowlers won the 1954-55 K of P League and received the championship trophy.

Columbus Pacer Wins At Lebanon

LEBANON (AP)—Astral Will, which had a second and a third in three previous starts here, last night won the $500 Class CC pace at Lebanon Raceway.

Astral Will, owned by F. M. Baker of Columbus and driven by Clair Baker, reeled off the mile in 2:08.2, a record time for him. There was a crowd of 1,927 for the nine-race program and the mutual handle was $67,554.

The spring meeting here will end Saturday night.

Ernie White, new manager of Nashville's Vols, started his managerial career by winning the 1949 pennant and playoffs with Bluefield, W. Va., in the Appalachian League.

Michigan has won the NCAA hockey championship five times.

Women Really Do Not Like To Look Like Lampshades

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editor

Women don't really like to look like lampshades, string beans or little boys. They like to look like women.

This drastic discovery was made by fashion designer Adele Simpson during a recent trip around the country, during which she talked to thousands of women in scores of towns in the North, South, East and West. Says she:

"Women are tired of fads and grotesque fashions. They're also fed up on the over-casual look, which sometimes turns out to be merely sloppy. Surprisingly enough, it's now fashionable to be ladylike, neat, elegant, properly hatted and gloved, even a bit formal."

During the recent opening of her fall fashion collection, Mrs. Simpson explained the research and psychology behind the new look of fall clothes—the elegance of town clothes, the important hats, the return of the long evening gown. The changes in the silhouette are subtle, but you can't miss them. There's a raised waistline, a fastidious feminine look, a di-rectoire air to her new suits and dresses. Clothes are slender, but not skin-tight, in the recent sheath manner. The designer explains:

"Women like to be able to move around inside their clothes. That's another thing I found by talking to them. They don't want to feel trussed up like a turkey ready for the oven. They want to feel elegant as well as look that way. And nobody ever looked beautiful, poised and attractive in a dress so tight that she couldn't breathe."

Another designer who feels that the age of elegance has returned is Fred Fredericks, the milliner, says he:

"Women are going to be wearing gala hats with long evening gowns this winter, just wait and see."

Michigan State won all eight tennis matches during its 1956 Spring tour of the South.

Prime Hereford steers, grand and reserve championship winners in the Junior Division of the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth: At left is "Jumbo" 940-lb. grand champion; with owner Hane Holloway, Wylie, Tex., at halter. CIRCLEVILLE took the lead in the sixth when Duane Dean and Terry Dean drew walks. Ellis hit into a double play, but Duane Dean advanced to third. Butch Wellington led off with a single. The local lads tied it up in the bottom of the seventh after the Glassblowers had scored twice. Ted Wellington led off with a single and stole second. ## Thomas Given Nod As Pirate Sacker

ST. LOUIS (AP)—As far as Manager Bobby Bragan of the Pittsburgh Pirates is concerned, big Frank Thomas is the Bucs' latest but most definite third baseman.

The 6 foot, 3 inch, 200-pound Thomas is the ninth sacker tried by the quick-manuevering Bragan this season. But pilot Bob-bey said today "I hope it's the beginning of a five-year plan at third for Frank."

Normally an outfielder, the long-ball hitting Thomas, who has belted 11 homers, made his first third base start Wednesday against the Chicago Cubs.

Slaughter Hopping For All-Star Nod

NEW YORK (AP)—Enos (Country) Slaughter, as frisky as a colt despite his 40 years, has a burning desire to make the 1956 All-Star baseball team.

The way he's been playing, there's every chance that the fans will vote the veteran Kansas City outfielder to the American League team in the mid-summer classic in Washington July 10. Only three outfielders have higher batting averages.

Slaughter has been named to 10 All-Star teams but all were in the National League, as a member of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Half-Trillion In Military Spending Seen

15 Years Of Peaceful Preparedness Brings High Expenditures

WASHINGTON (AP)—Spending for military defense over the 15-year period extending to 1965 may total more than half a trillion dollars — even with the nation at peace.

This is more, by many billions, than was spent in the previous decade and a half—which included fighting World War II.

From fiscal year 1951 through 1965, if the current spending rate continues, the cost of rearming for the jet-atomic age will be about $528.4 billion. This period also includes the years of the Korean War.

That estimate will be spending by the Defense Department. The figure does not include the cost of nuclear weapons. The Atomic Energy Commission has not disclosed what part of the approximate $14 billion spent for this overall program to date involves weapons, but it is known the great bulk of that total has been for weapon development and production.

HIGH DEFENSE officials have stated that a critical need for military readiness probably will mean that the current annual rate of military spending (about $35 billion) will be required well into the future, unless there is a change in world conditions resulting in either disarmament of another war.

Moreover, Secretary of Defense Wilson has said that continued improvements in technology and weapons "will tend to increase costs unless offsetting savings can be found."

Defense Department spending in the last six years through June 30, 1956, is estimated at $213.4 billion. That does not include such items as foreign military aid nor public works projects such as rivers and harbor development.

An annual spending rate of $35 billion from 1956 through 1965 would add another $515 billion to the total to boost it above the half trillion mark.

For the 15-year period beginning with 1936, records show a total expenditure of $344,249,000,000. This figure does not include the lend-lease program of the war years, but does include public works projects under the big economic recovery program of the later 1930s.

The bigger cost now arises out of two primary factors:

1. The price tag on weapons is higher. The cost of material and labor for weapons production has gone up, like everything else.
2. The weapons with which World War II was fought were relatively simple by today's standards.

Swimmer, 50, Tries Proving He's No Sissy

CHICAGO (AP)—Raymond Hurd took a swim in Lake Michigan yesterday to prove to a group of teenagers he wasn't a sissy. In return, he got a raw deal from the kids.

Hurd, who went to a North Side beach to loaf in the sun—not to swim—noticed the youths were in swim trunks and shouted, "Go on in the water, you sissies."

"Go in yourself, a couple of the youths told Hurd. 'We dare you.' 'I'd go in if I had a swim suit,' Hurd told the kids.

"Yaah," they jeered. "You're a sissy yourself."

Hurd, who is 50, stripped off his clothes and waded into the lake, swimming around in the cold water. When he decided he had enough he headed for shore. He was in waist deep water when he discovered his clothes were gone. So were the teenagers.

Hurd yelled for help. He resumed swimming, trying to keep warm. Some beach strollers called police.

Officers backed a squad car to the edge of the water, surrounded Hurd, escorted him to the car and thence to headquarters.

Hurd, who said he is an unemployed chemist, was charged with disorderly conduct.

OSU Chief Says U.S. Future Rests Upon Its Universities

COLUMBUS (AP)—President Howard L. Bevis of Ohio State University told 2,077 graduating students today that the future of America rests upon its colleges and universities.

The university administrator, winding up nearly 16 years of handing out diplomas, addressed the university's 79th June commencement in Ohio Stadium.

Dr. Bevis, scheduled to retire June 30, stressed the vital responsibility of higher education. He told graduates of their importance to this country today.

"For the first time in history, our country finds itself unmatched in power, save by its rival in the opposing ideological camp," the educator said.

Dr. Bevis said the country looks to its universities in this time of stress. He declared:

"Their graduates are its salvation. You are vital to the United States of America—you and your fellow graduates throughout the land."

Dr. Bevis, referring to OSU's share of this responsibility, said: "We are not free, in my judgment, to mark out for ourselves a convenient portion of the needed service and to say: This is our chosen task; we shall attempt no more. We are bound rather, as I see it, to extend our efforts to the limit of the resources given us."

"America can no longer afford to train a mere fraction of those who can, and want to, be educated."

Of the graduates, 60 received doctoral degrees and 174 master's degrees. Thirty students received degrees "summa cum laude" and 108 others "cum laude."

Three other state universities will graduate a total of 1,782 students Saturday and Sunday. Kent State University's 43rd annual graduation is set for Saturday, while Ohio University and Bowling Green State University scheduled exercises for Sunday.

Negro Flier's Case Studied By Governor

COLUMBUS (AP)—The fate of a Negro Air Force officer wanted in Mississippi to serve a sentence for drunk driving rested today in the hands of Ohio Gov. Frank J. Lausche.

Lt. Titus A. Saunders, 24, told an extradition hearing yesterday that he was beaten by civilians while in police custody in Mississippi after his arrest. His counsel said his "life might be in danger" if he were returned.

At the same time, John Shoemaker, assistant Ohio attorney general, said the Mississippi Supreme Court upheld the conviction and that he could see no legal basis for Ohio to refuse extradition.

David Chatfield, executive secretary to Gov. Lausche, conducted the two-hour hearing on request by Mississippi Gov. J. P. Coleman.

Saunders, transferred last July from Mississippi to nearby Lockbourne AFB, told under oath of his arrest, conviction and the placing of iron on his legs at Lowndes County Farm Prison in Mississippi before his release on bond.

He said he had been rushed at high speed in a police car over back roads to avoid mob violence after his arrest.

John J. Francis, Columbus Negro attorney, contended Saunders was not a fugitive because his transfer to Ohio was ordered by the military. He said Mississippi declared forfeited a $2,600 bond posted for Saunders.

Ohio Methodists Welcoming Negro

Unions Shun Full Waiver To Churchmen

WASHINGTON (AP)—The AFL-CIO has refused to extend any blanket waiver from union membership to members of religious sects with scruples against belonging to labor unions.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, said however that any AFL-CIO union could waive membership and dues payment for such people if they saw fit.

A bearded group of the old German Baptist Brethren, a small sect centered in Ohio and Pennsylvania, visited Meany here a few weeks ago to ask exemption of their members from a union shop requirement that they join a union in order to keep their jobs.

They said they had fled here from Germany years ago to preserve their religious freedom but now were faced with joining unions against their beliefs. They offered instead to contribute to charity an amount of money equal to union dues.

Meany said many unions have made exceptions for such people. But he said no blanket order to waive union membership could be made because a large non-union group in some plant might prevent a union from exercising its bargaining or other functions.

Second Major Foreign Aid Battle Looms

House Ignores Pleas By Ike To Give Him Full $4.9 Billion Fund

WASHINGTON (AP)—A second major foreign aid battle shaped up in the House today over whether to continue America's military and economic help to Communist Yugoslavia.

With administration support, House Democratic and Republican leaders tried to ward off stiff congressional demands to end aid to the country whose President Tito is now visiting and soliciting closer ties with Russia.

Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) and House GOP Leader Martin of Massachusetts, beaten in their effort to restore funds President Eisenhower had asked for military aid, were not optimistic about the Yugoslav issue.

But supporters of an amendment by Rep. Edna F. Kelly (D-N.Y.) to cut off aid to Yugoslavia were cautious about predicting victory.

Eisenhower asked $30 million in economic aid to Yugoslavia, plus a larger but secret amount of military assistance. The House Foreign Affairs Committee voted only $15 million.

CHAIRMAN Richards (D-S.C.) scored a dramatic victory yesterday when the House backed up the committee-approved cut of $1.1 billion in Eisenhower's $4.9 billion request.

Eisenhower, through a "Dear Joe" letter to Martin, joined personally in strenuous efforts by Martin and Rayburn to restore $600 million of the committee cut.

Martin read to a hushed House Eisenhower's letter saying "America's security and our partnership with like-minded nations in the world will be seriously impaired" by the committee slash. Rayburn said "it is necessary for the security of the country" to vote more money.

But in a rare repudiation of the joint leadership efforts, the House by a 192-112 standing vote turned down the $600 million restoration amendment offered by Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark.). A majority of Republicans voted against Eisenhower's request.

Many legislators applauded Richards when, with unusual bitterness, he said all Rayburn and Martin know about the bill "is what they are told about it down at the White House."

Richards also won two other test votes. The House shouted down a move by Rep. Flood (D-Pa.) to restore the full billion dollars of military aid cut from the bill. It defeated by 178-69 a motion by Rep. Bentley (R-Mich.) which had much Republican support, to slash half a billion dollars deeper than the committee did.

Oklahoma Wondering Why So Many Turtles On Roads

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—For those who have pondered the enigma "Why does a chicken cross the road?", give up!

There is a new puzzle: "Why does a turtle cross the road?" This is the time of year when the fig leaves are ripe, and in Oklahoma the voice of the turtle may not be heard but the turtle is certainly seen.

Thousands of the dry-land terrapins are taking over the highways. It's the motorists in the soup, not the turtles.

The highway patrol says the turtles are a great hazard as motorists try to miss them by swerving suddenly.

Many Oklahomans take special note of the faster terrapins and are ready to jump out of their cars to snatch them as prizes. Terrapin racing is a growing sport in the state.

There are several explanations for the greater number of terrapins on Oklahoma highways, including the profound observation more turtles are crossing roads now because there are more roads to cross.

Julian Frazier, director of the Lincoln Park Zoo here, said he has received hundreds of calls from harried turtle lovers (and haters) wondering about the terrapin migration.

"This seems to be one of the biggest years," he reports. "And there is a scientific reason why the turtles are on the move."

"It has been dry an awfully long time in Oklahoma, which is what the reptiles like. Now that the rains have come, they're moving to higher ground."

Frazier laughingly adds another reason: "It's spring and a boy terrapin crosses the road because there is a girl terrapin on the other side."

Russia Pledges New Cutbacks

Bulganin Sends Ike Another Military Note

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin has told President Eisenhower Russia intends not only to reduce its armed forces by 1,200,000 men but also to cut back armaments and military expenditures correspondingly.

In a letter delivered yesterday and undergoing intensive study by the President's advisers today, Bulganin urged the United States to follow Russia's lead by reducing its own forces, arms and military expenditures.

Secretary of State Dulles, speaking for the administration, already has rejected such a course on the ground that it would not be in the United States' interest.

The Soviets announced a month ago that they intended to cut their armed forces by 1,200,000 men. Bulganin officially informed the President of this in the letter, according to reliable accounts of the document.

Bulganin, the reports said, argued that it was a sincerely intended reduction in the level of Soviet forces. He said this kind of cut could be made without having to get international agreement on elaborate inspection and control systems such as a general disarmament program would require.

URGING THAT the United States and other countries follow suit, Bulganin said individual cuts in national armed forces would generate confidence in peace.

What he seemed to be advocating was a kind of parallel, unilateral disarmament. This is precisely the kind of thing against which the United States government has heretofore warned the American people and their allies.

In previous exchanges, Bulganin had made clear the Soviet Union would not accept Eisenhower's "open skies" proposal for mutual aerial inspection except perhaps as part of a fully developed arms control plan. On his part he had proposed, and Eisenhower had rejected as not needed, the signing of a friendship treaty between Russia and the U. S.

Enraged Thug Kills 3 In Chicago Spree

CHICAGO (AP)—A fast-shooting gunman invaded a North Side tavern early today, fatally shot one of the owners and a dice girl and then wantonly killed a 32-year-old newspaper vendor in the street.

Police said they had learned the identity of the gunman from a brother of one of the victims. They described him as an enraged ex-convict who had been arrested for creating a disturbance in the tavern a month ago.

The assassin first fired three shotgun blasts at Max Epstein, 45, who was in back of the bar of Mickey and Maxie's Cabaret.

Police said that about half a dozen customers were in the tavern when the gunman entered and started blasting at Epstein. They ran for cover and Epstein's brother Mickey, 37, rushed to a rear room to get a gun.

The gunman, after shooting Epstein, ran half the length of the bar and fired at the girl, identified as Lois Gates, 28.

The gunman threatened some of the customers as he fled from the tavern. Running into the street, police said, he bumped into the news vendor.

He fired one shot at the man, who was not immediately identified. He died shortly after he was taken to Edgewater Hospital.

Mickey Epstein told police that the slayer was Lawrence N. Larry Neumann, 28, whom he had arrested last May 9 after they had a fight in the tavern.

Time Corrected On Bloodmobile

The correct time for the visit of the Bloodmobile next Monday will be from 12 noon until 6 p. m., instead of an erroneous time previously announced.

Due to the fact that daily vacation Bible schools are in session in the morning, the time was moved back one hour from the original schedule. Normally, the Bloodmobile visit would have been from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m.

As a result of the time change, those who have appointments are asked to report one hour later. For example, those scheduled for 10:45 a. m. should report at 11:45 a. m., etc.

Anyone wishing to make an appointment may call the local Red Cross office at 336.

White House Says No Heart Disorder Seen

Physicians Diagnose Illness As Inflammation Of Lower Intestine

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower was stricken with abdominal pains early today, and in the afternoon was taken by ambulance from the White House to the Army's Walter Reed Hospital.

The White House said physicians had diagnosed the trouble as an ileitis, or inflammation of the lower portion of the small intestine, and that "there is no indication of any heart trouble."

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said a cardiogram (a tracing of the heart action) would be taken at Walter Reed.

He described the hospitalization as a "precautionary measure."

Asked whether the President's condition could be called critical, Hagerty replied: "I have not used any adjectives."

In response to questions, Hagerty told newsmen that physicians had not made any suggestion to him that Eisenhower's illness was a result of food poisoning.

THE ARMY ambulance was pulled up to the south side of the White House to receive the ailing chief executive. It departed, accompanied by and aft by a motorcycle escort.

Eisenhower could be seen lying in the ambulance. His hands were folded on his chest.

Some time before the ambulance wheeled away, Mrs. Eisenhower left in a White House limousine—presumably going ahead to the hospital.

As her car reached the White House gate, an Army car pulled up and her son, Maj. John Eisenhower, leaped out.

"Mother," he said, and climbed into the White House car with her. Major Eisenhower is stationed at nearby Ft. Belvoir, Va.

Also in the car were Lt. Col. Walter R. Tkach, assistant White House physician, and Col. Robert Schulz, presidential military aide.

The President was stricken early today. White House Physician Howard M. Snyder was called to his bedside at 2 a. m.

Hagerty said a dextrose injection had been given to the President before going to the hospital. Dextrose is a form of sugar. It is commonly used for intravenous feeding of patients for whom stomach feeding is deemed inadvisable.

Hagerty issued this statement: "The President had an attack of an ileitis (inflammation of the lower portion of the small intestine)."

"As a precautionary measure he is being taken to Walter Reed Hospital this afternoon."

"CUCKOO CLOCK"

A clock like this serves a double purpose. It can be enjoyed by both Clock and Bird Watchers. However, if you don't practice either of these hobbies there are other advantages to a time-piece like this. For one thing, it never has to be wound up because it's always wrong whether it's running or not. Also, this clock is a million laughs if you lend it to a house guest who has to catch an 8 o'clock train, or if you show it to your boss when you walk into the office at eleven thirty. The only drawback is what happens when daylight savings time rolls around. When everyone else is pushing their clock ahead, you've got to shove this one sideways. Which isn't easy.

White House Says No Heart Disorder Seen

"His blood pressure and pulse are good."

He has no fever.

"There is no indication of any heart trouble."

Hagerty said the President has had an intravenous injection of dextrose sugar. He said Dr. Snyder has called in Dr. Francis Pruitt, chief of medicine at Walter Reed, for consultation.

Hagerty said Snyder and Col. Pruitt had just finished an examination of the President.

Questioned as to whether the condition was the result of a virus infection, Hagerty said "I cannot answer any medical questions."

The press secretary said the President had not been in severe pain but that there was some soreness.

Earlier, Hagerty had described the President's difficulty as an "upset stomach" and insisted "it is not an illness but an upset."

All of the President's engagements for the day were postponed. However, Hagerty said engagements were being made for Monday. He said a conference of Democratic and Republican Senate leaders with the President about the foreign aid bill was being arranged for Monday afternoon.

THE PRESS secretary was asked specifically whether there had been any consideration of summoning Dr. Paul Dudley White, Boston heart specialist who has been a consultant on the Eisenhower case since the President's heart attack last Sept. 24. He said there had not been.

In reply to another question, Hagerty said this is the first time Eisenhower has suffered such an "upset" since Sept. 24.

That day, before the White House announced the President had suffered a heart attack, his aides characterized the ailment as a "digestive upset."

Hagerty said today: "Anybody can have an upset stomach."

That recalled a somewhat similar statement made by the White House at the time Eisenhower was stricken with his heart attack last September.

The announcement of that illness came from Murray Snyder, an assistant to Hagerty, who said then it was not serious.

Newsman questioned Hagerty as to the basis for his statement that there was "nothing wrong" with Eisenhower's heart.

Hagerty said Dr. Snyder told him that, but the press secretary said he was unable to go into detail.

Another reporter asked whether Eisenhower drinks alcoholic beverages.

"I think he takes a drink occasionally," Hagerty replied.

But he said he did not know whether the President took a drink before dinner last night.

Eisenhower attended the annual dinner of the White House News Photographers' Assn. here last night.

The meal served to him was especially prepared by the hotel on instructions from Dr. Snyder.

It differed from that served to other guests chiefly in the absence of a rich soup and a sauce on a filet mignon.

Preceding the heart attack, Eisenhower complained of stomach distress after having eaten onions with his lunch.

Eisenhower was in Fitzsimons Army Hospital at Denver for seven weeks after the seizure.

Eisenhower then flew east and spent several weeks more at his Gettysburg, Pa., farm.

He returned to his White House duties early in January.

Last Feb. 14 a panel of six of the President's doctors announced after a new exhaustive physical examination, that he had made a "good recovery" from the September heart attack.

FIFTEEN DAYS after the doctors reported, Eisenhower announced he was available for reelection.

At the time he announced he was available for renomination, Eisenhower said that if he ever felt he was not physically up to the presidential job he would not be "available for the job."

If such circumstances developed, Eisenhower said, he would tell the American people "instantly."

In recent weeks Eisenhower has been stepping up sharply his sched-

Chillicotheans Study Proposal For Income Tax

Lawmakers Ponder Restoration Of Cut In Sewage Rates

Chillicothe city council, faced with many of the same financial problems confronting Circleville's lawmakers, is considering a one percent city income tax for five years.

In addition, Chillicothe officials are studying proposed restoration of the 25 percent sewage rental fee. It had been reduced to 15 percent when water rates were raised.

One Chillicothe councilman, in supporting the income tax proposal, declared:

"We have raised salaries, but they aren't nearly as high as they should be, as evidenced by the fact that it is still almost impossible to get our police and fire departments up to full strength."

"In 1942, the city's payroll was $140,000; now, it is over half a million dollars, and yet it averages out to around $60 a week."

The lawmaker pointed out the need for more playgrounds and parks. He noted that citizens there get free trash and garbage collections by the city, as well as free street lighting.

"Every time the city issues bonds to make an improvement, it raises real estate taxes," the lawmaker asserted. He also pointed out that Toledo was "broke" several years ago, but put in a one percent income tax and has since been able to cut its tax rate for operating expenses to 2.85 mills.

The sewage rental rate was lowered 10 percent when water rates were increased about 66 percent. Mayor Forrest Harper has suggested a compromise of 20 percent.

Circleville city councilman George Critch has suggested an income tax for this city on a number of occasions. He has predicted that a proposed operating levy, to be placed on the ballot in November, will be rejected by Circleville voters.

A panel discussion on legal matters was held at the regular meeting of the Rotary Club Thursday, when Ray Davis, Guy G. Cline, Judge of the Pickaway County Probate Court and George D. Young, former probate judge, led the talks.

Davis and Judge Cline discussed the legal phases of the negligent act. This concerns injury of person or property and liability of auto owners and the drivers of automobiles in case of accidents.

Young discussed the making of wills. He stated that about four out of 10 persons fail to make a will before they die. In such cases, the laws of the state prevail in settling the estate, he added, noting that it is to the advantage of every person to make a will.

After the discussion by the attorneys, the balance of the meeting was taken up by questions from Rotary members pertaining to legal problems. These were answered by the three members of the panel.

Ray Parker, local pharmacist, attended as a new member.

Legal Matters Discussed At Rotary Meet

A panel discussion on legal matters was held at the regular meeting of the Rotary Club Thursday, when Ray Davis, Guy G. Cline, Judge of the Pickaway County Probate Court and George D. Young, former probate judge, led the talks.

Davis and Judge Cline discussed the legal phases of the negligent act. This concerns injury of person or property and liability of auto owners and the drivers of automobiles in case of accidents.

Young discussed the making of wills. He stated that about four out of 10 persons fail to make a will before they die. In such cases, the laws of the state prevail in settling the estate, he added, noting that it is to the advantage of every person to make a will.

After the discussion by the attorneys, the balance of the meeting was taken up by questions from Rotary members pertaining to legal problems. These were answered by the three members of the panel.

Ray Parker, local pharmacist, attended as a new member.

20 Candidates Spend $2,697.87 During May Primary This Year

Candidates in the May primary this year in Pickaway County, not including central committeemen, spent a total of $2,697.87 on their campaigns, according to a report issued today by the county board of elections.

This compares with $984.77 spent by 19 candidates in the 1952 May primary held in the county.

The largest amount spent this year was $438.63 by Hewitt Cromley in an unsuccessful bid for one of the two Democratic nominations for county commissioner. The next highest amount was $390.31 spent by Sheriff Charles H. Radcliff, who won the Democratic nomination and will be unopposed in the November election.

Three incumbent candidates reported no expenses, none having any opposition. They are: William Ammer, Republican, county prosecutor; Mrs. Florence T. Campbell, Democrat, county recorder; and Dr. Ray T. Carroll, Republican, county coroner.

NONE OF the candidates reported contributions or gifts of any kind. The maximum that could be spent for a county office candidate was $475 and the most for a candidate for the general assembly was $350.

Mathematical Errors Costly To Lancaster

COLUMBUS — Mathematical errors cost the city of Lancaster more than $1,000 today.

The state board of tax appeals has revised downward an allocation to the city from the local government fund allotted by the Fairfield County Budget Commission.

On May 2, the board set Lancaster's allocation at $63,896 after the city had appealed from an order of the budget commission which gave it $57,162. However, city officials on May 15 appealed to the board for reconsideration and modification of its allocation.

Lancaster alleged that mathematical computation used by the board in arriving at its figures was in error.

The board, on May 29, said it found mathematical errors in its formula used to arrive at a proper allocation. The board said that the city should have received $62,734 for its share of the local government fund, some $1,162 less than Lancaster was awarded before its appeal.

The city originally alleged that the county commission's allocation order was inequitable and did not reflect a fair and proper regard for the relative needs of the city.

Lancaster officials contended that a proper allocation would have given the city $112,872 from $205,620—the total amount available for allocation.

The board's May 2 decision gave the county an allocation of $89,455. Under the new decision, however, the county will receive $90,617. Lancaster contended that a proper allocation for the county would have been $40,479.

Right-To-Work Law Criticism Shelved

TOLEDO — The General Board of the National Council of Churches yesterday sent a report critical of "right to work" laws back to committee for further study. Its Division of Christian Life and Work has already studied it for two years.

"Right to work" laws prohibit closed shop contracts. They have been adopted in 18 states over the opposition of labor unions.

The 250-member General Board, governing body of the nation's largest church group, failed to act on a proposed policy statement that said law should neither require nor forbid union membership as a condition of employment, but the issue should be left up to labor-management negotiation.

Fifty-five per cent of U. S. imports come from the western hemisphere.

"Bible Baptism . . . Its Subjects"

We have previously studied the ACTION and DESIGN of baptism. It was shown that baptism is a "burial in water" for the "remission of sins." Today we shall answer the question, "Who should be baptized?"

In answering this question, as should be true with all questions that have to do with the salvation of the soul, the scriptures shall be our sole authority.

1. No one is a proper subject for baptism who has not been taught the gospel. In giving the Great Commission, Jesus said, "Go ye therefore, and TEACH ALL NATIONS, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost; teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you; and, lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world" (Mt. 28:19-20). Here we see teaching precedes baptism. The ones who are baptized are to be further taught to "observe all things."

2. No one is a proper subject for baptism unless he is a believer. Jesus said, "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved" (Mk. 16:15-16). When the Ethiopian Nobleman asked Philip, "What doth hinder me to be baptized?" Philip answered him, "IF THOU BELIEVEST with all thine heart thou mayest." (Acts 8:36-37).

3. No one is a proper subject for baptism who has not repented. When the church was started, the ones who believed and cried out, saying, "Men and brethren, what shall we do?" were told to "repent and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins" (Acts 2:37-38).

FROM THE ABOVE FACTS

We learn that: TAUGHT, BELIEVING, PENITENT SINNERS are proper subjects of baptism. Infants do not come in this class for the following reasons: (1) They are not sinners in need of salvation until they grow to the age of accountability, (2) They are not WILLING SUBJECTS, (3) They are not TAUGHT BELIEVERS. It would therefore be mockery to pour or sprinkle water on children and call it baptism!

Big Steel Studies Reply To Union

NEW YORK — Steel officials say it will be at least a week before the industry's "Big Three" make counter proposals to demands by the United Steelworkers of America.

Contract talks began here Wednesday between the union and United States, Bethlehem and Republic Steel corporations. They resume today.

John A. Stephens, U. S. Steel vice president in charge of industrial relations, said the union's proposals had been a long time in preparation and that the companies likewise would need time to study the demands.

State Patrol Warns Of Dangers In Using Sleep-Killing Pills

Use Of Drugs Can Result In Bad Accidents

Patrol Recommends Resting As A Must After Tiring Ride

With the great amount of truck traffic in Pickaway County, residents should be interested in a warning issued by the State Patrol concerning sleep-killing pills sometimes used by truckers.

Noting that use of the pills is apparently on the increase among commercial drivers, the Patrol cautioned that the initial effect of dispelling drowsiness may be followed by a feeling of being impervious to danger with the resulting loss of good judgment and common sense in driving.

Patrolmen reported finding one driver in such a state of stupor that it was nearly impossible to rouse him when he was found asleep in the cab of his truck. He admitted taking pills he called "bennies" that he purchased at a truck stop in New Jersey.

In another case investigated by the Patrol, the wife of a truck driver said her husband has lost 40 pounds in weight since he started relying on the pills about six months previous.

According to authorities, the most dangerous of the pills are those containing Benzadrine or a derivative. This drug, which has a wide reputation for increasing alertness, also, when taken in improper quantity, may produce headache, dizziness, fatigue and loss of ability to concentrate.

When tired from driving or long working hours, rest is the only safe remedy, the Patrol said. Not "bennies," or any unknown pill purchased at a truck stop or obtained from a "friend."

If "bennies" have been substituted for sleep, a driver's memory may black out completely or his judgment fail completely. While drivers may believe they are driving safely they are actually risking their life and others every minute.

When used to keep going, authorities point out these sleep-killing pills "borrow" energy that the driver's body cannot afford to spend. All at once none are left and unconsciousness can ensue while the driver is behind the wheel on the road.

The Patrol pointed out that its primary concern over the use of the drug is the safety factor involved and said it is convinced that a driver depending on "bennies" or "goof pills" to keep him awake is a great accident risk.

The Patrol said it has adopted a policy of reporting sale of the pills, whether by individuals or business places, to the Federal Food and Drug Administration for investigation and prosecution by federal authorities.

Railings Against GOP Failed To Convince Young Ashbrook

WASHINGTON (AP)—As an Ohio youngster, John Ashbrook used to listen to Democrats railing at Republicans as the "party of the few."

What's more, he says, he was to some extent sold on this idea. He had, as he puts it, a "stereotype" of Republicans as rather "cantankerous" individuals who caused the depression.

Ashbrook was a teen-ager in Johnston (Licking County) then, the son of a veteran Democratic congressman—the late Rep. William A. Ashbrook.

But those days of suspecting Republicans are utterly gone now. Now 28, young Ashbrook has become such a complete convert to the GOP cause that he heads the Ohio League of Young Republican Clubs.

A tall, earnest, sandy-haired young man, Ashbrook was discussing his switch to the Republicans the other day while attending a

Young Republican "leadership school."

"It was in 1948," he said. "I was a student at Harvard University, and I started thinking about whether I was a Republican or a Democrat."

"I disagreed with the Democrats' foreign policy and, domestically, their fiscal policy. I was against Truman that year, but I did campaign for Paul Dever, a Democrat, for governor of Massachusetts."

So in 1949, or thereabouts, Ashbrook finally cut all ties with the Democrats. As he puts it: "It had become a radical party."

Since then, he's been all out for the Republicans. He bought a weekly in 1953, the Johnston Independent, a paper he says had been Democratic for 80 years. It's been Republican since.

In addition, he's campaign chairman for the Young Republicans National Federation.

Ashley feels that a lot of young people are voting GOP these days, whereas 10 years or more ago this group often favored the Democrats.

And the reason for this, he believes, is that "the Republican Party had to live with a ghost for 15 years—the depression. This has been the first time the party has had a chance to show what it can do, that it isn't just the party of the few."

Turkey Demanding Responsible Press

ANKARA (AP)—Turkey's Parliament has adopted a tough new press law providing prison sentences for newsmen and suspension for newspapers publishing "false news."

Another clause provides prison terms for foreign correspondents who report "baseless or exaggerated news likely to shatter the prestige of the government."

The law also sets educational standards for newsmen and gives the government the right to suspend publications for three months. It requires newspapers to publish denials of stories in full and without comment, with the same prominence as that given the reports being denied.

May Employment Hits New High

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Weeks says employment in May rose to 65 million, a new record for the month and just one-half million short of the all-time high mark set last August.

Weeks says May employment represented a jump of about one million jobholders over April. This was the second straight month in which employment had increased at that rate.

The secretary said that despite layoffs of workers in automobile production, unemployment last month was about the same as for April when there were 2,600,000 without jobs.

Turnpike Plazas Labeled Taxable

CLEVELAND (AP)—A Cuyahoga County official said today the county will levy a property tax on two plazas on the Ohio Turnpike in Broadview Heights.

Restaurant and filling stations at the two plazas, Great Lakes and Towpath, are leased by the commission to private operators.

"Because of the commercial aspect of the plaza operation, we have decided they are taxable," said F. J. Fournier, assistant county assessor.

Russell S. Deetz, the turnpike's project manager, said the tax move "is all news to me. It will involve study by the commission."

BRYAN, Tex. (AP)—Because of a $200 gift from the Bryan Chamber of Commerce, all seven children of 86-year-old John Burgoyne Ely will be present when the octogenarian receives his degree from UCLA Saturday.

Six of his children had already planned to be at the graduation. Now the seventh, Mrs. Sam Fort, has been presented $200 by the Bryan Chamber of Commerce to make the trip.

Everybody Signs Pauper's Pledge

ST. LOUIS (AP)—City Hospital officials thought they had hit on a method of stretching the hospital's drug money, which has run short year after year.

They began requiring clinic patients applying for free drugs to sign a witnessed statement: "I solemnly swear that I cannot afford to buy this medicine."

"Everybody signs it just like a routine order to get drugs," Dr. Cyril Costello, the hospital chief of staff, said.

"It has not done anything to cut down the expense of drugs to City Hospital."

Warren Cuts Out All Raffle Deals

WARREN (AP)—You're not supposed to sell raffle tickets on the streets of Warren.

Mayor William C. Burbank says permits issued for selling such tickets have been cancelled.

Police Chief Manley R. English said many worthwhile organizations had raised funds by conducting raffles and no effort had been made to stop such a practice.

He added, however, that recently private businesses have entered into the raffle business, apparently to stimulate trade.

Agents Given Chief Credit For 'Discovering' New Stars

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Want to know who discovers movie stars these days? Despite what you may have read about eagle-eyed producers, agents are the ones who do the discovering.

It's unglamorous but true. Most of young hopefuls who are signed by the studios in Hollywood are not found in drive-in restaurants or soda fountains. They are brought to the studios by alert agents, interviewed, tested and signed.

Take Felicia Farr. The legend promoted about this taffy-haired beauty was that she was tabbed for stardom by her studio while slaying in a local eatery.

"Not so," says Felicia. "A friend of mine was hostess at DuPar's Restaurant in the Farmers Market. She got sick and asked me if I would take over her job for a week so she wouldn't lose it. I wasn't working at the time, so I agreed to do it."

"It wasn't the studio that discovered me; it was an agent, Herbert Gold. He asked me if I would be interested in a film career. I thought it was the same old line, so I didn't take much notice."

The agent persisted. Felicia was not exactly a tyro, having done a lot of TV commercials in New York. "I was the Betty Furness type, always opening and closing

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adlai Stevenson, after knocking Estes Kefauver into the political bleachers, has the inside track for the Democratic presidential nomination, but —

The main problem of the Democrats remains exactly what it was before the primaries: Will they have issues sharp enough and heated enough to make the voters want to scrap President Eisenhower for a Democrat?

Neither Stevenson nor Kefauver was able to set any prairie fires with primary campaign attacks on Eisenhower and his administration. The reasons are not hard to find.

In the first place, the Democrats this year lack the inflammatory issues the Republicans had or were able to create in the 1952 campaign: the Korean War, the "scandals," and the Communist scare.

In the second place, the bulk of the Democrats and Republicans are so close together—in following a middle-of-the-road course—that the basic differences between them are more of degree than of kind.

A foreigner, or a person without emotional or political attachments to either party, might have difficulty recognizing any real differences between Democrats and Republicans at all.

In the third place, the Republicans have taken over the Democrats' basic programs, thus robbing them of a lot of talking points.

For the 20 years they were out of office the Republicans preached against what they called the "creeping socialism" of the New Deal and "Fair" Deals.

But after Eisenhower moved into the White House the Republicans not only retained all the major programs of the Roosevelt-Truman years, including foreign policy, but even expanded them. They repudiated none of them.

In the fourth place, the country is at peace, it is enjoying high prosperity, and war with Russia seems more remote than any time since 1948, all of which makes it difficult to get voters excited.

And even one of the issues upon which some Democrats seemed to be basing a lot of hope—the charge that the administration was giving away natural resources—has been diluted.

When Democrats start talking about giveaways, the Republicans can remind the voters that Southern Democrats were in the front of the fight which persuaded Congress to let the government give the states the oil-rich submerged lands.

And it was Southern Democrats who this year led the successful fight to get Congress to pass a bill taking direct federal control off the natural gas producers. Eisenhower vetoed the bill, while supporting its objectives.

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — The man was lying on the front seat of a parked automobile, apparently fiddling with the car's ignition, as Police Lt. Jack Purdie walked over to question him.

"I'm just waiting for my friend who owns this car to come back," the man replied.

"That's funny," Purdie said. "I thought this car belonged to the city and that I was using it as a detective's car."

Professor Urging Time For 'Thinking'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The daily coffee break at the office should be joined by the "think break," an associate professor of psychology at the University of California, Harrison Gough, made that proposal Thursday.

He says workers should be granted a "think time—as much time as is allotted for coffee breaks—so that they can sit down and think out their problems without interruption."

Then, when they get back to work, Gough said, "their minds will be free and they'll know what they're doing."

CANTON (AP) — An amateur detective with a badge supplied by his correspondence school yesterday aided in the arrest of an unemployed musician.

Devaux shouted, "Come out of there. I'm a plainclothesman." Then he flashed his badge and turned Foster over to a police cruiser which had been called to the scene.

Foster, 28, was charged with suspicion of burglary.

How Goes The Cold War Now?

Soviet Communism Playing Bold Double Game In World

Editor's Note: Following is the last in a series of four articles studying the progress of the Cold War in the light of recent maneuvering by the new regime in Russia.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

Soviet communism is playing a bold double game.

The Kremlin seeks to make itself respectable in the eyes of the Western world. But it makes no effort to hide the fact that it still actively supports and inspires revolution by violence.

Moscow proclaims itself the champion of peaceful coexistence. But Communist doctrine in its up-to-date revision clings to the notion that Western capitalism must lead to war.

Russian leaders are engaged in a concentrated campaign to win friends. But Moscow still preaches subversion by trickery, deceit and violence.

The Soviet hierarchy throws out one challenge after another to the West, and looks for challenges to accept. It may even go so far—in the light of reappraisal of push-button war prospects of the future—as to accept some aspects of President Eisenhower's open skies proposals for mutual air inspection of military installations.

The Russian leadership may do this because its planning is long range. The immediate objectives are propaganda victories aimed at breaking down Western unity. For the next 10 years at least, the Soviet Communists have indicated, the idea of world war is ruled out. But the Soviet Union will remain armed to the teeth, prepared to take advantage of any accident that might require a revision of the timetable.

The Soviet program has been publicly spelled out, for the benefit of Communist leaders from 55 countries who attended the 20th Soviet Communist Congress in Moscow last February. The dogma, laid down in the resolutions of that Congress, is that there can be no true peace while capitalism exists. The specific resolution said:

"While capitalism remains on earth, the reactionary forces representing the interests of the capitalist monopolies will also, in the future, strive for military adventures and aggressions and try to unleash a war."

She Couldn't Pick A Better Name

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Mrs. Elwanda Lorey, 22, told the saleslady to charge her purchases.

"What name please?" asked the saleslady.

The answer brought a call for the store detective, and Mrs. Lorey's arrest on 55 counts of obtaining goods under false pretenses.

Police said Mrs. Lorey made a habit of copying charge customers names and using them for her own purchases.

This time the name and address given by Mrs. Lorey belonged to the saleslady.

The Gospel Overcomes Paganism

PAUL'S MINISTRY IN EPHEBUS BRINGS JEWS AND GREEKS TO CHRIST

Scripture—Acts 18:19—21:16; Ephesians 2:11-18.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
IN THE BEGINNING of our lesson we meet a fine man by the name of Apollo who, while he had been baptized by John the Baptist, preached Jesus Christ, the Messiah. He came to Ephesus and preached eloquently in the synagogue. He attracted the attention of Aquila and Priscilla, who took him with them and instructed him in God's ways more perfectly. While Apollo was in Corinth Paul came to Ephesus, and finding a group of disciples there, he asked them if they had received the Holy Ghost. Upon learning that they had been baptized by John the Baptist, and had not heard that there was a Holy Ghost, Paul baptized them, then laid his hands on them and they received the Spirit.

Paul, restless as ever, felt the Spirit urging him to go back to Jerusalem for the Pentecost, although he did not know what would happen to him there. He was warned that he would meet with persecution, but his courage did not desert him. Calling the elders of the church together in Ephesus, Paul told them of his decision, and they all knelt with him in prayer, then embraced him tearfully, because he told them they probably would see him no more. On his way to Jerusalem he and his companions came to Tyre. Here they stayed for seven days, and when they were about to sail away, whole families accompanied them to the shore. All the people, men, women, wives and children, knelt on the shore and as he prayed with them they wept bitterly. The Apostles then went to Caesarea and stayed at the house of Philip, the evangelist, where a man prophesied that if Paul went to Jerusalem, he certainly would be bound and delivered into the hands of the Gentiles. All then begged him not to proceed, but he was adamant and they were forced to let him go, saying "God's will be done." They knew Paul was ready to be bound, even tortured or slain, for the sake of Jesus Christ.

MEMORY VERSE

"Mightily grew the word of God and prevailed."—Acts 19:20.

Paul went to the synagogue and taught boldly. When many of the Jews refused to hear him, he continued his teaching in the school of Tyrannus and remained two years in Ephesus, so that all in Asia, both Jews and Greeks, heard the word of the Lord Jesus. He also wrought many miracles. Some took handkerchiefs or aprons that he had worn and healed those who were ill with them. Many believed and some who practiced magic arts, brought their books of magic and burned them in public. "So mightily grew the word of God and prevailed." Now in Ephesus was the magnificent temple of Diana. Artisans in silver and other crafts made a lot of money producing silver shrines and other decorations for the temple. Demetrius, a silversmith, was alarmed when the worship of the goddess seemed undermined by Paul's teaching. He called the workmen together and told them their business was being ruined by this preacher, Paul. The men were filled with anger and they turned the whole city into an uproar shouting, "Great is Diana of the Ephesians!" The town clerk tried to quiet the mob, saying that if the artisans had anything against Paul and his disciples, they could have the law on them, but if not they should be quiet, and he dismissed the people. Paul, restless as ever, felt the Spirit urging him to go back to Jerusalem for the Pentecost, although he did not know what would happen to him there. He was warned that he would meet with persecution, but his courage did not desert him. Calling the elders of the church together in Ephesus, Paul told them of his decision, and they all knelt with him in prayer, then embraced him tearfully, because he told them they probably would see him no more. On his way to Jerusalem he and his companions came to Tyre. Here they stayed for seven days, and when they were about to sail away, whole families accompanied them to the shore. All the people, men, women, wives and children, knelt on the shore and as he prayed with them they wept bitterly. All then begged him not to proceed, but he was adamant and they were forced to let him go, saying "God's will be done." They knew Paul was ready to be bound, even tortured or slain, for the sake of Jesus Christ.

TENSIONS NOT NEW

"MODERN DAY tensions" frequently are blamed for heart disease and other ailments and problems. What those who thus glibly assess the blame seem to overlook is that the more primitive man, who had colonies of sabertoothed tigers for neighbors, lived through some rather tense moments, too.

"How do you measure tension?" asks Dr. James Watt, director of the National Heart Institute for the U. S. Public Health Service.

"Are today's tensions any different than those our pioneer ancestors suffered wondering how soon they would get their scalps lifted? They had some pretty complicated worries over feeding and clothing the kids, too."

Dr. Watt points out that heart disease is becoming a national problem with 53 per cent of all deaths caused by it. The answer may lie in modern man's environment, he adds.

"But just saying the increase is caused by tensions or our civilized type diet, without proof, may be the best possible way to insure we will not get where we are going—toward preventive programs."

Ten years ago, Dr. Watt points out, hardening of the arteries was like the weather. It was considered an inevitable consequence of old age and nobody did anything about it.

IN THE ROUND IN A TENT

WHAT'S NEW for Broadway musical shows, but old for showmanship, is the "tent theatre" idea for Summer entertainment on a large scale. At Lambertville, N. J., a tent theatre for the last several Summers has been demonstrating that people will come in droves by car and bus from Philadelphia and New York to see musical comedies with casts of a quality up to road shows of Broadway standards. That was the first of several big tops of their kind in the East.

This sort of theatre in a tent of circus proportions may not have the cosy intimacy of the little Summer stock outfits in barns. But the little ones do not go in for big musical shows anyway. Not enough stage facilities, not enough seating capacity to handle an audience of profitable size. So they stick to plays—often plays of dramatists who never think of appealing to mass audiences. The huge tent affairs seem to be tapping a new market.

SENSELESS BRAVADO

WITH JUVENILE delinquency alleged to be increasing, many studies have been made to determine what makes young people turn "bad." Among the many theories advanced are the usual ones such as that the older generation is going to the dogs, or parents are more to blame than the children, or comic books, television and radio are responsible, and so forth.

In conjunction with these theories there is another one which is often overlooked by those seeking to place the blame for youthful errands. That is the fact that society itself has changed. No longer is the importance of hard work and serious thinking stressed in the home.

While the 40-week and child labor laws eased the burdens of many, they also left much unspent energy bottled up in the young people, many of whom began looking for diversions to give them a "thrill" or leave off steam.

These Days

Tito is really a product of the errors of the West. It was the betrayal of Mikhailovitch by the United States and Great Britain that gave Tito his strength and authority.

Perhaps in the year 1956, the name, Mikhailovich, is forgotten but he organized the resistance to Nazism and to Hitler in all the Yugoslavian countries; he organized on a democratic basis; he was opposed to the brutality of Communism as he was to the brutality of the Nazi.

Opposing Mikhailovich was Josip Broz Tito, Communist, member of the Third International and until 1948, completely dominated by the Kremlin whose agent he was. After Mikhailovich had served the Allied cause, he was abandoned by them and Yugoslavia became part of the Soviet world with Tito as dictator.

Russia had no troops in Yugoslavia and therefore Tito was freer than some of the other satellite dictators. Years before when Earl Browder had proposed "American exceptionalism" to the Third International, it was Tito who most violently opposed the Browder concept of Communistic nationalism, but Tito adopted this doctrine as his own and for it, in June 1948, he was expelled from the Third International which at that time went by the name of Cominform.

As early as March 20, 1948, Tito wrote to Molotov that Marshal Bulganin, who was then Minister of People's Defense, was removing all military advisers and instructors from Yugoslavia because they are "surrounded by hostility." The reason of fended Tito. The fact of the matter is that Soviet Russia attempted to reduce Yugoslavia to a satellite which Tito resisted. In a letter dated March 27, 1948, the Communist Party of Soviet Russia wrote to the Communist Party of Yugoslavia:

"We readily admit that every Communist Party, among them the Yugoslav, has the right to criticize the CPSU, even as the CPSU has the right to criticize any other Communist Party. But Marxism demands that criticism be above-board and not underhand and slanderous, thus depriving those criticized of the opportunity to reply to the criticism."

"However, the criticism by the Yugoslav officials is neither open nor honest; it is both underhand and dishonest and of a hypocritical nature, because, while discrediting the CPSU behind its back, publicly they pharisaically praise it to the skies. Thus criticism is transformed into slander, into an attempt to discredit the CPSU and to blacken the Soviet system."

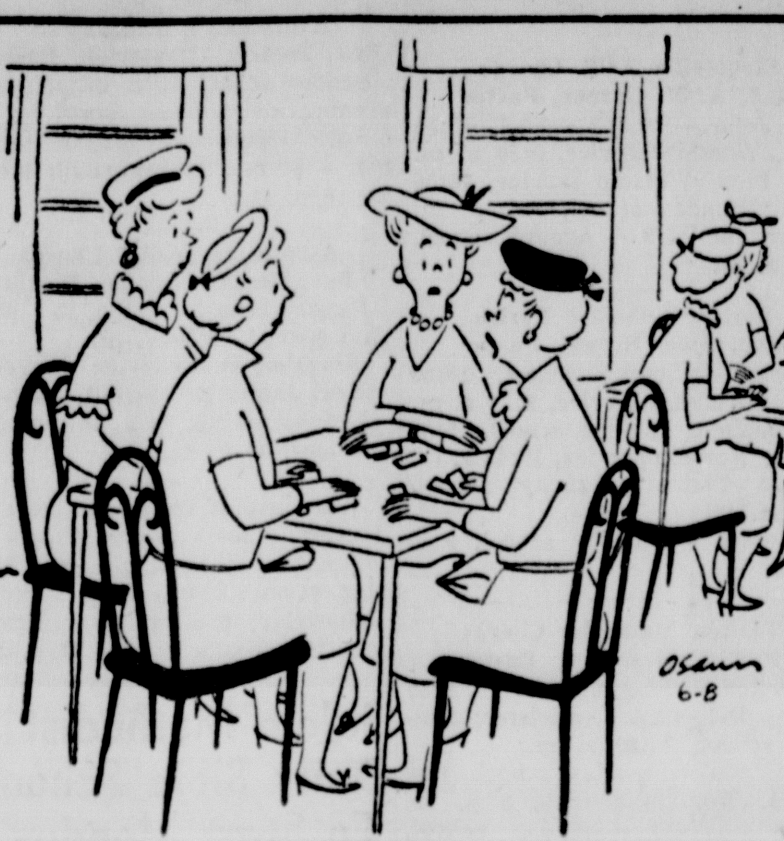

Tito replied on April 13: "Among many Soviet people there exists the mistaken idea that the sympathy of the broad masses in Yugoslavia towards the USSR came of itself, on the basis of some traditions which go back to the time of Tsarist Russia. This is not so. Love for the USSR did not come of itself."

"It was stubbornly inculcated into the masses of the Party and the people in general by the present leaders of the new Yugoslavia, including, in the first rank, those so seriously accused in the letter. The present leaders of new Yugoslavia are the same who, long before the war, sparing neither efforts nor sacrifices, persistently revealed to the masses the truth about the Soviet Union and planted among the masses of Yugoslavia love for the land of Socialism."

It was in this same letter that Tito wrote: "We cannot allow the Soviet Intelligence Service to spread its net in our country. We have our state security and our intelligence service for the struggle against various foreign capitalist elements and class enemies within the country, and if the Soviet intelligence agents need information or assistance in this direction they can obtain it whenever they want to; on our part, this has been done until now."

Shop With Caution For Child's Shoes

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

SO you think it's a tough job to go shopping for shoes for your youngster? It might be a lot harder physically on the child.

Excessive use of those fluorescent shoes found in some retail shoe stores these days can be dangerous to any tot's foot.

Now I'm not saying that testing the fit of the shoe a few times with these machines will harm him.

Skin Damage
But uncontrolled length of exposure and repeated exposures as you travel from store to store with him, can affect his foot. It might cause skin damage or even bone distortion.

Maybe the ordinary method of measurement and observation still is best, at least if you insist upon the youngster trying on innumerable pairs of shoes.

Just remember that your tot's shoes should be one thumb-width longer than his foot and one finger-width wider.

Oxford Style
Generally, shoes which lace across the tongue are best for youngsters. An oxford style usually is preferred for a child of two or more since high shoes offer no additional support. This might give better protection against the weather, but that's about their only advantage. The shoes should be made of solid leather and have thick, inflexible soles.

I think you'll find this type of shoe will be better for your child than booties, shoes made of artificial leather and those with rubber or soft soles.

Roughen Soles
If the soles are smooth, I suggest you roughen them with a pocket knife or scraper to give them a better grip.

One word about orthopedic shoes. Just remember that corrective shoes should be ordered by prescription and only after a doctor makes a proper diagnosis of the foot condition.

Otherwise, some appliances built into so-called orthopedic shoes might only damage the child's feet.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
A. K.: "What is Raynaud's disease?"

Answer: It is a rare disease, most often found in women, and is similar to Buerger's disease that occurs in men.

It is a disease in which the hands become cold and blue and the circulation gradually becomes less and less. Gangrene can develop if this disease is allowed to progress.

CHAPTER 42
VAL MOVED over to a lamp on the verandah and read the letter Eileen had written to Bruce shortly before she was killed:

"Darling, darling Bruce. I am writing this in a terrific hurry just as Mummy should do something stupid and publish the announcement of my engagement to Dirk: I hope to Heaven she doesn't, but you know Mummy. And the poor dear is so delighted about this phony engagement she's like a dog wagging six tails. You know her heart's been acting up lately, and the doctor implies me to do everything I can to keep her calmed down, until the danger is past. We know what is really upsetting her is us, darling—her terror that I'll dash off and marry you, which I shall do directly I'm twenty-one. But for the moment I've hit on the bright idea of a pretended engagement between Dirk and myself. He's always been a good friend of mine, as you know, though he isn't one scrap in love with me. He has agreed to let me tell Mummy that he and I are engaged. And goodness, it was the best tonic she could have had. She literally got out of her sick bed and almost danced a jig."

I think the main reason Dirk consented to my plan is that he's always been really fond of Mummy and is concerned about her health. You know he lost his own mother when he was a kid and Mummy and he have always understood each other. He has understood her much better than I ever have, but then Dirk is the sort who always makes allowances for everyone. If he likes people, he doesn't seem to mind how badly they behave.

Anyhow this is just to warn you that should you hear anything about this fake engagement, there's nothing to it, just a device to keep Mummy quiet until we can be secretly married. You know, my darling, my very own darling, I'd never marry anyone in the world but you. Yours always, Eileen

There were tears in Val's eyes as she finished reading the letter, but she made no comment.

After a few minutes Bruce cleared his throat rather noisily and said, "That letter alters everything for me, as you see. I realize I owe Hanson an apology. He looked toward her. 'Will you apologize to him for me, Val?'"

She nodded. "If you want me to, I know just how you're feeling, Bruce," she added slowly. "Don't show Cynthia that letter," Val said impulsively. "Try to forget it."

"I shall never be able to forget it, Val. That's asking the impossible," he said finally.

The Carzwas drifted out on the verandah, and they all said goodbye. John and Jane asked Bruce to drop in and see them whenever he had the time. He thanked them and left the house.

The small ship, half-passenger, half-cargo, was sailing down Southampton Sound. It was raining, but Val, gazing through the porthole, didn't mind the rain. Dirk was meeting her. She had his radiogram crumpled in her apron pocket.

She saw him immediately the ship docked. He was pacing up and down the dock in the gray, persistent rain. It was easy to distinguish him from the others who were also awaiting the arrival of the ship. He was so tall and thin, and in his closely belted raincoat he looked almost emaciated. She saw that his eyes were searching the passengers—the faces of the passengers—gathered on the main deck intently and eagerly, but when apparently he couldn't find her face among them, she saw a look of blank dismay cloud his face.

Suddenly she sensed his disappointment as though it has been her own personal hurt, and she knew she had to do something about it. She went quickly down to her own cabin and slipped a white raincoat over her uniform. Then she ran up the stairs to the purser's office. He was a nice elderly man, a good friend of hers, and he agreed she might go ashore for a few minutes before winding up her duties.

Almost as soon as she'd left his office she was running down the gangplank. Dirk, who had caught one glimpse of her poised at the top of the gangplank, rushed forward to meet her, his thin face breaking into a happy grin. He caught her in his arms before she had reached the bottom step, and lifted her slightly body down onto the dock, holding her so closely she could scarcely breathe.

But presently he held her a little away from him, his eyes looking gravely down into her pretty face. What he saw must have satisfied him, for when he spoke it was in a rough, uneven voice, quite unlike his usual voice.

"My darling, my darling," he said hoarsely, "you've decided, haven't you?"

She nodded and said breathlessly, "Yes, Dirk, yes."

But he held her away from him for several long moments before he drew her sharply toward him again and kissed her lips hungrily.

"I love you, I love you, my darling," he said in a low voice that had become suddenly gentle. "I love you, Dirk."

Again he caught her to him, holding her close, and again he kissed her wet, flushed face.

"You've come home at last, my darling," he said presently. "Yes, thank heavens I'm home, Dirk," she whispered.

And it was good to be home, to be sure of her own heart at last; to have buried her doubts and her heartaches, to know so surely where her real happiness lay.

She was too happy even to be aware that many of the passengers were looking down at them from the main deck, some smiling with sympathy, others cynically. She didn't even know that her brother Tom was standing almost directly behind them, grinning his congratulations.

Can't Marry Great Grandma

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

(For Hal Boyle)

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—In Pakistan, a Moslem may have four wives and a Hindu any number. But in Tennessee a man can get 21 years in prison for having only two.

So says a lately published U.N. survey of marriage and divorce laws in 24 countries. Such laws were studied because of their effect on population, a concern of the economic and social council. They show great diversity.

In Sweden, under ordinary circumstances, no man may marry under 21 years old nor woman under 18. In Argentina, Honduras, Panama and Northern Ireland, on the other hand, a boy may marry at 14 and a girl at 12, given parental consent. The lowest minimum ages in the United States are 14 and 13, in New Hampshire.

The report states, without elaboration, that in Queensland, Australia, "where either party is under the age of 7, the marriage is absolutely void." It sets out that in the Netherlands, no person under 30 may marry without his parents' consent—though he may appeal to a justice of the peace if they stand in the way.

When a minor marries in Czechoslovakia, as he may do from 16 up with court approval, he immediately becomes an adult before the law with as many legal rights as any Czechoslovak citizen has.

Many countries define in great detail the degrees of relationship within which marriages are prohibited. India expressly forbids a man to marry his great-grandmother.

White people are barred from marrying Negroes in over half the states of the United States; Mongolians in 11; Malaysians in 6; American Indians in 4. White people may not marry Koreans in South Dakota and Hindus in Arizona.

Sweden allows the marriage of prisoners. Pakistan forbids the marriage of Shia-Moslem pilgrims who have entered the sacred territory of Mecca.

In Ontario, Canada, a clergyman can be fined $500 and jailed for a year if he marries a man and woman who are drunk. France penalizes the sale of contraceptives with prison terms up to three years. Eight states in the United States also forbid their sale. Connecticut forbids their use. But Alabama, Florida, South Carolina and Virginia finance birth-control programs.

Try, Stop Me

The shortest play in the world, avers Walter Blumenthal, must be a gem by Tristan Bernard called "The Exile." The entire cast consists of a mountaineer and an exile. The curtain's rise discloses the mountaineer whittling in front of his cabin door. Enter the exile, beseeching, "Whoever you are, have pity on a hunted man. There's a price on my head." Says the whittler, still whittling, "How much?"

That's the complete, unabridged text.

Story submitted in a composition class by an 8-year-old in Katonah: "Marry me," he implored. "I should say not," she replied. So they lived happily ever after.

Auto Industry Tries Dose Of Nasty Medicine

Car-Makers Touchy
On Idea Their Ills
Hurt Whole Country

By SAM DAWSON

DETROIT (AP)—The auto industry — touchy at the charge its current ailments may be catching and upset the nation's good times in general — is trying some stiff medicine today.

It professes confidence that by fall it will cease to be one of the nation's fever spots. And it stresses that retail sales this year of an estimated 5½ million cars or more would be higher than the average of the six years prior to 1955.

The dose, however, has a bad taste. The mixture includes:

Layoffs around the nation of 185,000 or more; loss of overtime and often short weeks and paychecks for those still working; production cut back around 30 per cent from this time last year, with a drop in earnings for the companies; suppliers cutting back, too; auto dealers loudly bemoaning stocks on hand that recently topped 900,000.

Merchants watch business slide. And there's the hard to pinpoint effect on public psychology, particularly in the auto producing areas, but also throughout many other industries, and among many consumers.

The United Auto Workers Union has called in the mayors of 18 cities in Michigan, Indiana, Ohio and Wisconsin to discuss here today what can be done to ease the pains.

Spokesmen for the industry say they expect present production schedule plans to be sufficient to whittle down inventories to 750,000 by the end of this month, to 700,000 by model changeover time and perhaps to 550,000 by the first of September — the traditional clean up period for the dealers and the happy hunting days of the annual bargain seekers.

General Motors President Harlow H. Curtice notes that GM has raised its production schedules six times and lowered them eight times during this 1956 model period. GM will take its final look around the middle of this month and set the rest of the course then.

President L. L. Colbert of Chrysler thinks present schedules about right because its dealers' inventories are in a better relation to production than at this time a year ago.

Ford takes a new look at schedules about once a month. President Henry Ford II calls present sales volume a return to normal after "the abnormal pace" of the 7½ million car year in 1955.

All of the big three say that the failure of the traditional spring pickup in sales to appear this year was a surprise to most observers but didn't affect their changeover plans. GM and Chrysler expect to present their models around November 1 and Ford around October 1, in all cases the same as last year.

Ford adds that the dip in employment at changeover time will be kept at short lived as possible — "we lose money while the plant is down."

Hopes for a good pickup in the fall are based on many things. A top GM executive notes that used car sales have perked up, always a healthy sign. He expects bet-

Sokolsky's These Days

Considerable correspondence has passed between the two countries and some of it was quite vituperative. On June 28, the Cominform stated:

"The Yugoslav leaders evidently do not understand or, probably, pretend they do not understand, that such a nationalist line can only lead to Yugoslavia's degeneration into an ordinary bourgeois republic, to the loss of its independence and to its transformation into a colony of the imperialist countries."

A call was made upon true Marxist-Leninists in Yugoslavia to change the leadership of their party and government; that is, to kick out Tito.

The essential error was to permit the betrayal of Mikhailovich by the United States and Great Britain and to build up Tito into a great international figure. Thus, our policy has again proved to have been without understanding and imagination.

1,000 To Attend Buckeye Boys State

CAMP PERRY, Ohio (AP)—Almost 1,000 boys were expected to attend the annual Buckeye Boys State which opened today at this Ohio National Guard camp on Lake Erie.

The youngsters, selected juniors from high schools throughout the state, will become residents of 20 different "cities," grouped into the four counties which make up the mythical state.

They are divided into two political parties to conduct campaigns with elections Monday for state offices. The young officials will assume duties Tuesday and disband Sunday, June 17.

Boys State is sponsored by the American Legion.

ter dealer relations and dealers "ready to do a better selling job." He notes that employment in general around the nation is still at top levels and personal incomes at a record high. He counts on people feeling better about planning and buying as the political uncertainties are settled.

O'Neill Campaign Expenses Listed

COLUMBUS (AP)—Four committee's which campaigned for Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill, who won the Republican nomination for governor in the May 8 primary, yesterday reported contributions totaling $38,100 and expenditures of $35,495.

O'Neill himself reported receiving $250 and spending $244. His campaign committee reported contributions of $33,193, expenditures of $32,873 and unpaid debts of $8,200. His Franklin County committee received $3,912, spent $1,751 and reported the balance available for the Nov. 6 election campaign. A Franklin County lawyers' committee supporting O'Neill received $585 and spent $453.

Education Board Rulings Outlined

COLUMBUS (AP)—Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill has ruled that an education board member passing upon purchases of large quantities of school supplies from a company who employs him holds an interest in such contracts in violation of state law.

The opinion also said an education board member regularly employed as attorney by a casualty company from which the board buys large amounts of insurance and bonds has an interest in such contracts in violation of statute.

$2 Million Added To Flood Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Clements (D-Ky.) said Thursday that at his request a Senate subcommittee added more than two million dollars to appropriations approved by the house for flood control and navigation projects in Kentucky.

He said the changes included an increase from $100,000 to $150,000 for the New Richmond lock and dam on the Ohio River and a similar increase in the $100,000 appropriated for planning the Nolin dam.

"Mary Hawthorth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Why do outward appearances count for so much in this world? I am college educated, in my early thirties, and I am considered nice looking and dress well. I probably spend too much on my wardrobe and have the feeling that some day I will regret not salting more away.

However, I find in my work—secretarial—that the emphasis is placed on appearance first, and ability second. Each time I have gone for a job-interview I know that my grooming is being noted as much if not more than my scholastic and past business record.

Frankly, none of the jobs I have landed has ever utilized my potentialities, career-wise, and I am getting fed-up with getting dressed-up every day to come in to a mediocre job.

I can't help but toy with the fancy of what would happen if I appeared at work some day in a sloppy dress, with down-at-heel shoes and runs in my stockings. I am sure my boss would be shocked.

R. S.

DEAR R. S.: Your feelings and views about outward appearances are rather confused. It seems you are falling short of whatever goals you'd hoped to attain by this age; and you are resentful about it, and don't know which way to turn, or what to do, to get on the beam. And so you are blaming the world for being all wrong.

Now, to get you straightened out about appearances: In your complaint—that too much emphasis is placed on a person's appearance nowadays, without regard for his (or her) special human qualities—you strongly imply that "appearance" consists wholly of what one is wearing. And that to make a favorable impression, one must be rather emphatically well-dressed.

Actually, the theory that "appearance of the man" isn't new to our day. It was true in Shakespeare's day also — and it was he who coined the phrase I've quoted above. And here indeed is the heart of the matter — one's manner of dress is apt to reveal one's true inner self. Would - be misleading show isn't likely to deceive the astute beholder.

When we look at a person, we usually see the individual in entirety, if we are in the habit of looking perceptively. Personality

(what one is) shows in the face, in the eyes and mouth particularly, and in the cast of the countenance; also in the general bodily bearing. And the individual's choice of clothing (his or her total wardrobe and daily costume) usually reflect with remarkable accuracy that person's tastes, ambitions, associations, and purchasing power.

Boudreau Halts Mantle, But Not That Yogi

Mick's Bat Average Drops, But Berra Fattens In Kansas City

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Now that Kansas City Manager Lou Boudreau has Mickey Mantle "figured out," what's he going to do about Yogi Berra?

Boudreau did about as good a job of "stopping" Mantle as any one has this season, employing a shift that packs the defense to the right. The Mick got only four hits in 11 trips and his major league average dropped from .411 to .403 in the three-game series just completed by the A's at Yankee Stadium.

But what about Berra? The Yogi smacked six hits in nine trips in the three games, drove in five runs, scored six and hit three homers. The Yanks hardly knew Mantle was missing.

Berra, a bad ball, spray hitter, hit his 16th homer and fourth in four games—to get the Yankees rolling on a 9-1 decision over the A's Thursday. He added two singles and drove in two runs—giving him six homers, 10 RBIs and .545 average in six games against the A's this year.

The victory pushed New York into a 4½-game lead as runner-up Cleveland was dumped by Baltimore 5-2. The Chicago White Sox beat Washington 7-5 and Boston trimmed Detroit 6-5 in 10 innings.

Cincinnati's rugged Redlegs boomed into the National League lead, by a half game over idle St. Louis, by blasting Philadelphia 8-5 while the Chicago Cubs dropped Pittsburgh to third 5-2. Milwaukee closed Brooklyn's winning streak at four games as Bob Buhl pitched a four-hitter to win 4-1.

Hank Bauer hit his 13th homer for the Yankees, knocking in his 34th run—not bad for a guy hitting .203. The A's didn't shift against Mantle—hitting righthanded against three southpaws led by loser Alex Kellner—and he had two-for-four. Bob Turley won it for a 3-2 record.

Patterson Favored To Beat Jackson

NEW YORK (AP)—Floyd Patterson, a precision puncher, and Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson, an unorthodox mauler, clash tonight in a 12-round elimination bout that will move the winner one step from the vacant heavyweight throne.

The 21-year-old Patterson, grown into a 181-pound, six-footer, is favored to whip the strong, tireless 6-2½, 193-pound Jackson and go on to a title fight against light heavyweight champion Archie Moore in September.

Not in recent years has a non-title fight whipped up such interest as this collision of heavyweights with widely contrasting styles. Although the scrap will be broadcast and telecast (9 p. m. EST), a crowd of 10,000 will pay around $50,000 to see the live action.

Each fighter gets $40,000. Patterson, beaten only by former light heavyweight champion Joey Maxim in a 30-fight career, was a 13-5 favorite early in the week. Plenty of Jackson money dropped the odds to 2-1. The price may be lower by fight time.

Jackson supporters say the indefatigable Hurricane from New York's Far Rockaway section will take everything the 1952 Olympic champion has to throw and wear him down with his mauling style. "After the third round it will be all Jackson," said Tommy's trainer, Freddy Brown.

Tebbetts Takes Long Gamble To Boost Redlegs Into First

CINCINNATI (AP)—Manager Birde Tebbetts, who says he's a pretty good card player, led from his weak suit Thursday and finessed the Cincinnati Redlegs right into first place in the National League.

The last time the Redlegs ever were in first place on the June 8 date was in 1940 when they won the pennant and the World Series.

Four starting pitchers have been carrying the load in the Redlegs' drive so Tebbetts went to his admittedly weak second-line hurlers for a starter against the Philadelphia Phils.

He brought out Hal Jeffcoat and from the time Jeffcoat faded out of the picture in the sixth, Tebbetts shuffled four more hurlers into the game before the Reds won it, 8-5 as the Chicago Cubs beat previous front-running Pittsburgh.

Now his first-line right-handers are ready for the Brooklyn Dodgers, who moved in for a three-game series. The Dodgers are fresh from winning three out of four from Milwaukee.

Tebbetts was quick to claim that his move in starting Jeffcoat, a onetime outfielder, was not just to save Johnny Klippstein, Art Fowler and Brooks Lawrence for the Dodgers.

"We need a fifth starting pitcher," he said. "Somewhere, I've got to find one. Jeffcoat had been doing such a good job in relief, I thought I'd try him. And I thought he did pretty good."

The Dodgers have quite a reputation for feasting on left-handers such as Nuxhall.

Tebbetts said he wanted to give his other starters four days of rest—something they haven't been getting.

"But I wasn't saving anyone for Brooklyn," he said. "Who knows, it might rain Saturday or Sunday. And if Fowler (who pitched an inning in relief yesterday) had had to go more than an inning he couldn't have been used against Brooklyn. Then we would have had to use Joe Nuxhall against them."

The Dodgers have quite a reputation for feasting on left-handers such as Nuxhall.

Marlene Hagge Holds Big Edge

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP)—Marlene Hagge of Asheville, N. C., started the third round of the $12,000 Triangle Round Robin Golf Tournament with a five-point lead today.

Trailing Mrs. Hagge, the nation's current No. 1 money winner in women's golf ranks, was Joyce Ziske of Waterford, Wis., with a plus 18 points. Patty Berg of St. Andrews, Ill., was third with a plus 15 and Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., was fourth with a plus 13.

A player picks up or loses points by comparing her medal round with that of each of the other three in her foursome.

Circleville Team In County League Seeking Sponsor

Circleville's entry in the County Baseball League is seeking a sponsor.

This cost of sponsorship is low and the local boys have shown plenty of promise. Anyone who is interested should contact Dick Boyd at 556-R.

Circleville, in its first game, ended up in a 7-7 tie at Ashville last Wednesday. The contest will be continued from that point and will be played before the two teams meet again in three weeks.

The other two teams in the league are Scioto, with Delby Neff starring on the mound, and Amanda.

U.S. Sailor Chalks Distance Record

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A Navy sailor has set an American record for the 10,000 meter run, covering the six miles and 388 yards in 30 minutes, 31.9 seconds.

Joe Tyler, running in the Southern Pacific AAU track and field championships here last night, snipped 1¼ seconds off the old record of 30:33.4. It was set in 1952 by Curt Stone of the New York AC.

The world mark of 28:54.2 is held by Emil Zatopek.

Tyler, 24, a Los Angeles High School product stationed at the San Diego Naval Training Center, has only 16 more days to serve.

Souchak Sees Soundness In Hogan's Idea

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y. (AP)—Big Mike Souchak figures Ben Hogan will win his fifth National Open championship next week because Hogan can play all the shots and because he doesn't like to finish second.

By the same token, Souchak figures to do pretty well this week in the 15th Round Robin Tournament at Wykagyl. He held a slim lead over Bob Rosburg and Gene Littler after yesterday's opening round. He's a better-than-fair hand with a driver and he doesn't see any sense in being runnerup.

"Who knows who finishes second," Souchak asked after shooting a 67 and piling up 15 points in the first of the Round Robin Tournament's five rounds. "I finished second 10 times last year and nobody knew it. This year I was second a couple of times, then finally won one. Still, to be in the top 10 every week, you have to be very good. There are so many good players around."

Souchak's round of 34-33-67

over the par 34-33-67 course yesterday gave him only a one-point advantage over Rosburg and Littler going into today's two rounds. Souchak, playing with Fred Haas, who shot at 69, Billy Maxwell and former Open Champion Lloyd Mangrum, netted 15 plus points. Littler and Rosburg, fattening on Fred Hawkins and England's Henry Cotton, respectively, scored 14 each.

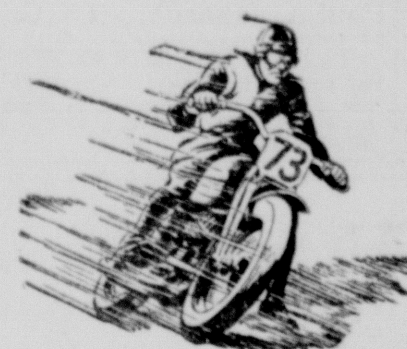

The wild-shooting, straight-putting Rosburg had 34-34-68 for the day's second best round. Littler and Haas, each with 34-35-69 were third in scoring.

Dow Finsterwald of Athens, Ohio fired a 75 for a minus-2-point standing.

IT'S SWITCHCRAFT — that's what it is!

You'll see when you try Buick's new Variable Pitch Dynaflo!

Buick CENTURY 6-Passenger 2-Door Riviera

It takes a new word to describe the magic at your command when you drive a '56 Buick — with the newest transmission of them all.

It's full power go-ahead on the instant. You can get where you were just looking in a shaved second's time—with the most modern and most thrilling surge of safety acceleration in the land today.

It's smoothness, too. Complete freedom from the "bump" and lag of gears shifting. Only with Dynaflo can you go winging away with so smooth a sweep.

And only with a '56 Buick can you enjoy Dynaflo's newest marvel. The engineers call it "double regeneration." Lets you start off like an Olympic sprinter, with the pedal pressed just an inch or less. (And driving that way, you get better gas mileage.)

There's more big news, too, that goes with this new Buick magic. And that covers a lot more than styling.

Sure—you'll like the graceful new beauty of the V-shaped prow and sweep-ahead look. And you'll like the extra room inside.

But as you drive you'll find that this Buick responds with the new might of a big, record-powered V8 engine of 322-cubic-inch heft.

It handles easy as butter to a warm knife. Tracks the curves like a plane on the beam. Makes any road seem paved with pillows.

And what's responsible for all this are more new engineering advances than Buick has ever made in one model year.

So why not come in and see—and feel—the difference they make? You'll soon know why owners find it's the best Buick yet—and the best buy yet, by far.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.
